Supreme Court Denies Legality of Fixing Prices to Benefit Consumer

REFUSES TO SET RULE

Congress May Pass Law to Leave Question to Federal Trade Commission

Washington—Perhaps the most important action of the supreme court in several years so far as big business is concerned has been taken in the decision holding the Trenton Pottery company and other members of a trade association to have violated the Sherman anti-trust law.

For some time trade associations have hovered on the border line between friendly co-operation for the interchange of information and the actual fixing of prices. The supreme court brushed aside the idea that the fixing of prices might be so conducted as to benefit the consumer, arguing that conditions might change overnight and that once the right to fix prices had been granted it could be applied unreasonably as well as reasonably.

NOT DISCRETIONARY
The court pointed out that there was no legislation permitting price-fixing left to the discretion of the court, and that the Sherman law was intended best not to supply a rule that could be applied in changing economic conditions. But this very defect may some day be cured by legislation as the tendency nowadays in congress is to leave questions of unfair competition to the federal trade commission and to limit to extreme the operations of the Sherman law by specific exemptions such as are now enjoyed by farm co-operatives and labor organizations.

Trade associations have been encouraged by some decisions of the supreme court to carry on their operations for the benefit of their members though they have carefully refrained from any price fixing that could be attacked. The government has contended, however, that even verbal understanding with respect to prices can be challenged as a violation of the Sherman law. Some of the government officials have contended that information obtained by trade associations with respect to each other's costs is a proper field of inquiry.

The latest decision of the supreme court undoubtedly will strengthen the determination of the department of justice to bring their problems to the department before any mergers are brought about and before any serious departure in policy is embarked upon by big business concerns involving possible conflict with the Sherman anti-trust law.

DIVERSION AIDS RIVER, ENGINEER WITNESS SAYS

Washington—(AP)—At least six inches is being added to the navigable depth of the Mississippi river through the diversion of water from Lake Michigan to the Illinois drainage canal, Major John C. Gotswalt, United States district engineer, St. Louis, testified Wednesday in the suit brought by Wisconsin to prevent the Illinois Sanitary district from further withdrawal of water from the Great Lakes system.

Upon resumption of the hearings Wednesday before Charles E. Hughes, special master for the supreme court, Major Gotswalt submitted extensive testimony bearing upon the physical condition of the Mississippi river and the government's desiring operations. Among the charts submitted were several dealing with the prospective development of commerce between St. Louis and the mouth of the river.

ALABAMA PAPER FACES CRIMINAL LIBEL CHARGE

Birmingham—(AP)—A warrant charging criminal libel was sworn out in the Jefferson county court of misdemeanor, Wednesday by James E. Esdale, grand dragon of the realm of Alabama, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, against Frederick I. Thompson, publisher of the Birmingham Age-Herald. C. M. Stanley, associate editor, and H. W. Kinney, city editor. The action followed a statement in Wednesday's issue which quoted Esdale as "endorsing masked whippings" in an address last Thursday night.

BRITAIN TO PROTEST RUSSIAN PROPAGANDA

London—(AP)—The British cabinet, it is understood, has decided to send an emphatically worded note to soviet Russia concerning anti-British propaganda, which it has been charged is being disseminated by the soviets throughout the British empire. It is understood that the note will state that unless the propaganda ceases, Great Britain will consider the possibility of terminating the trade agreement with the soviets.

AMERICAN GIRL TEACHES AMERICAN BOY TO SHOOT

Chicago—(AP)—They call her "Sure Shot Mary" now at Lake View high school, because 16-year-old Mary Ward, seeking a regular R. O. T. C. marksmanship medal, shot 500 out of a possible 500 with an army rifle, to win the medal itself and four honor bars.

CAPTURE HALF-WIT IN DOUBLE MURDER CASE

Yutan, Neb.—(AP)—Frank Marsh, halfwit farmer who shot and killed two and seriously wounded three others, was captured on the Otto Bunn farm, three miles south of here shortly before 1 o'clock Wednesday morning. Marsh was sitting along a fence. He offered no resistance and allowed a posse to tie him with a rope.

EXPECT DIAMOND RUSH TO SOUTH AFRICA FARM

Potchefstroom, Transvaal, South Africa—(AP)—A diamond rush which is expected to be the greatest in history will occur Friday when the Grasfontein farm, where precious stones were recently discovered is opened for claim staking. It is estimated that between 20,000 and 30,000 rangers will race.

WOMAN STARTS TO CLEAN UP COUNTY; WIELDS CLEAVER

Waukesha—(AP)—Following a militant campaign on Mrs. Florence George of Pewaukee, who effectively employed the methods of Carrie Nation, Sheriff Alvin Redford announced Wednesday that removal of all slot machines in Waukesha-co will be ordered. The time limit will be March 15, he said.

Mrs. George used a cleaver to smash slot machines in several places and defied the operators to have her arrested. The woman declared the machines were being "played" by students of the St. John's Military academy and divinity students at Nashotah. She asserted that she had acted because of the failure of the sheriff and district attorney to clean them out. The district attorney declared her methods were illegal, but did not attempt to stop her and Wednesday the sheriff promised a cleanup, asserting it had been delayed by other business.

Grocer Cooperation Is Feature Of Dollar Days

An unusual and interesting feature of the annual spring Dollar Day sales here on Friday and Saturday of this week is the cooperation of 23 grocery stores in the downtown section and in the outlying districts. The majority of these cooperating stores are "neighborhood" institutions.

Cooperation between these stores and wholesale grocers is so close that certain specials will be offered in all the cooperating stores at the same price. That means that in any of the stores the same commodities will be obtainable at the same prices. In addition to these cooperative specials the grocers will offer their own individual bargains. All in all it should be a big day for shoppers who have an eye to making the food dollar travel a long way.

This grocer cooperation is only one of the many unique features of the bargain days. Never before have so many merchants cooperated in the movement and never before have they shown such intense interest. Dollar Days always have been gala days for shoppers but they will be exceptional this year because of the special effort to offer outstanding bargains.

A large edition will be printed by The Post-Crescent tomorrow to call attention to bargains offered by the stores. These sales announcements should be carefully read for they will offer many money saving opportunities. Almost anything that you need now or will need in the future will be offered at discounts from regular prices that will amaze even the most sanguine bargain hunter.

THOMPSON AND DEVER ARE EASY WINNERS IN CHICAGO VOTING

Chicago—(AP)—William Hale "Big Bill" Thompson, carrying his banner of "America first," has charged through the Republican primary on the crest of the largest plurality ever registered in a Chicago majority contest to become Mayor William E. Dever's opponent in the April 5 election.

The war-time mayor rolled up a landslide plurality of more than 150,000 over Edward R. Litsinger, member of the board of review, beating his nearest rival better than two to one and carrying all but one ward. Mayor Dever returns from all but two of the city's 2,382 precincts. In the missing districts the ballot boxes were stolen.

Breaking all records in Chicago, the Thompson plurality exceeded the 147,477 lead with which Thompson won his election in 1915, at that time a record-breaker. Thompson rolled up 342,272 votes against Litsinger's 162,248 in returns from all but two of the city's 2,382 precincts. In the missing districts the ballot boxes were stolen.

With no fire works in the Democratic primary, Mayor Dever received 149,422 votes to 13,260 for Martin Walsh, his only opponent.

As the returns piled up, a primary vote of phenomenal size was shown. The Republicans cast 506,307 votes, compared with 350,000 in the Republican primaries last spring, a blistering factional battle. The total vote was 668,989 out of a registration of 1,000,000.

THREE-CORNERED BATTLE
With the primary out of the way, the two leading candidates plunged Wednesday into perhaps the most furious battle Chicago ever has seen over mayor. They will be joined for a three-cornered battle by Dr. John Dill Robertson, West Park commissioner, who withdrew from the Republican primary to run as an Independent in April.

Thompson's victory was a win for the Republican faction of State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, and the head of the ticket, along with the rest of the faction's slate for city offices, although the votes of the minor candidates did not approach that registered by Thompson.

There was some disorder at the polls but not as much as in some former elections. County Judge Jarecki said the plan of seating known gangsters and taking them before him, immediately had helped keep the peace and he maintained that "disorder and rioting were more apparent than real."

DETROIT WOMAN IS FOUND DEAD BY HUSBAND, AFTER ATTACK IN HOME

Detroit—(AP)—Identity of a clubber who killed Mrs. Grace Loomis, 34, Tuesday night while her two children slept in an upstairs bedroom was sought Wednesday. The woman's husband, Dr. Frank R. Loomis, said the attack occurred while he was gone for a short walk.

The body was found on the floor of a sun room, near a bloodstained settee. A pane of glass in the window near the settee was broken, but no other evidence of a struggle were found. Deep cuts and bruises on the woman's head pointed to the clubbing attack, although a search of the house and the neighboring grounds did not reveal the weapon.

The glass from the broken window was on the outside of the house in a walk of less than an hour. Before leaving the house he said, he had given his wife $100 for safekeeping. The money was missing, but three diamond rings had not been taken from her hand.

FIRE AGAIN HITS VILLA OF BADGER ARCHITECT

Spring Green—(AP)—For the third time the residence of Frank Lloyd Wright, near Spring Green, was visited by fire, causing approximately $3,000 damage. Fire, due to defective wiring, broke out in the studio and did considerable damage before being extinguished by the Spring Green fire department, which made the four mile run to the estate, across the Wisconsin river from the village. Wright was absent and was said to be in New York. The villa was twice destroyed, once in 1914 when a blaze was started by a demented Negro, and again two years ago.

SENATE ASKS KELLOGG VIEW ON BORAH PLAN

Diaz Wants U. S. Protection in Nicaragua—Presents Plan to His Congress

Washington—(AP)—Administration senators temporarily blocked action Wednesday on Senator Borah's proposal that the senate foreign relations committee go on tour this summer in Mexico and Nicaragua.

Taking the view that the American government should be given an opportunity to say whether it thinks such a trip advisable in the present situation the administration bloc on the committee directed Senator Borah as chairman, to inquire whether Secretary Kellogg desires to appear and discuss the proposal. The resolution will be taken up at another committee session Thursday.

In voicing their opposition, administration senators expressed the view that a visit of a senatorial committee to the Central American republics just at this time might prove embarrassing to the state department in its handling of the Nicaraguan situation and the controversy with Mexico over oil and land laws.

DIAZ WANTS PROTECTION
Managua—(AP)—Protection of the interests of Nicaragua for 100 years is the commission which the Central American president, Adolfo Diaz, would like the United States to assume. His proposals for a treaty with that country will be placed before the Nicaraguan congress Thursday and he is certain they will be approved. The United States would be granted the right to intervene when necessary to maintain an adequate government and assure free elections.

The United States would guarantee the sovereignty and independence of Nicaragua and retain the right to build a canal through Nicaraguan territory. For 400 years Nicaragua would concede to the United States rights to develop the country as to assure financial rehabilitation and security and the public health.

WOULD RECOMMEND ADVISOR
The president of the United States would recommend a financial adviser, to be appointed by the Nicaraguan president. This adviser would be an American and have power to veto expenditures. There would be also an American collector-general of all revenues.

Nicaragua would not have a standing army, but would have a constabulary officer by United States marine officers. If after a 10 year period it became necessary to prevent a political uprising, American officers would have the privilege to take control of the constabulary.

Nicaragua would not enter a treaty or lease or sell territory to a foreign power other than the United States, without consent of the United States.

MAY HIRE DETECTIVE IN OLSON MURDER

Citizens Growing Impatient Over Failure to Find Badger Slaying Suspect

Mount Sterling—(AP)—Growing impatient over the failure to find Edman Olson, Galesville college student sought on a charge of murder in the death of Clara Olson, citizens of this community have started a campaign to raise funds to employ a detective.

A public meeting will be held Wednesday night at which the community will be asked to endorse the plan initiated Saturday night when a committee of five was appointed to have charge of the campaign.

The committee is limited by lack of funds in investigating the case, and people have been growing impatient because of rumors of many clues which have not been run down," declared Leslie Tichenor, who was appointed secretary and treasurer of the citizens committee. "No definite amount is sought, but we hope to raise enough to employ a detective who can run down all clues," Mr. Tichenor said.

A reward of $2,500 was raised through appropriations of the county board and popular subscription. The supervisors also appropriated $1,000 to aid in the hunt for Olson, who has been sought since the girl's disappearance Sept. 10, and the subsequent finding of her body in a grave near Rising Sun Dec. 3.

Several suspects have been arrested in connection with the case, and District Attorney A. B. Curran said Wednesday that several clues were being investigated.

ITALIAN AIR HERO LANDS NEAR BRAZILIAN ISLAND

Fernando Noronha, Brazil—(AP)—Commander Francesco DePinedo, Italian aviator, has put behind him one of the most hazardous sections of his "four-continent" flight. He landed on the water off this little island, about 135 miles from the Brazilian mainland, Tuesday afternoon after a 12 hour non-stop flight across the Atlantic from the Camp Verde islands. Only bad weather prevented him from going right on to the mainland of the South American continent.

When his seaplane Santa Maria had covered the 1,422 miles from Port Canico, Cape Verde islands to Fernando Noronha he found he had sufficient fuel to carry him on to Port Natal. It was 2:40 Tuesday afternoon when the watching populace sighted the plane. After circling over the island several times, it continued westward but heavy seas off the coast and unfavorable weather conditions making impossible a landing at Port Natal, forced a return to the island.

Commander DePinedo and his fellow fliers announced their plans were in perfect condition and ready to continue the journey to the mainland and thence northward to New Orleans, St. Louis, Chicago and New York.

Commander DePinedo is the hero of the hour in Italy, for his flight is looked upon there as a real Fascist triumph. When the news arrived that the aviator had crossed the Atlantic the populace went holiday.

Malaga, Spain—(AP)—Major Tadeo Larre-Borges, Uruguayan aviator, flying from Italy to Montevideo, hopped off at 11:10 Wednesday morning in continuance of his flight. He planned to land at Las Palmas, Canary islands.

ZIMMERMAN SIGNS $750,000 BILL TO FIGHT CATTLE T. B.

Resolution to Limit Length of Legislative Sessions Killed, 15 to 14

Madison—(AP)—Governor Fred R. Zimmerman Wednesday signed the $750,000 tubercular emergency appropriation recently enacted by the state legislature.

The appropriation provides for the indemnification of owners of cattle found to be infected with tuberculosis. Claims for such indemnities will be received until June 30, 1927. The bill was introduced in the senate by Senator George W. Hull of Whitefish, and was passed almost unanimously in both branches of the legislature. The joint resolution asking a constitutional amendment, setting the length of legislative sessions and making that body meet every week day during its session, was killed in the senate Wednesday by a vote of 15 to 14. There was a long debate on the proposal which was introduced by Walter H. Hunt of River Falls.

CHANGES PROPOSED
"Drastic changes in the organization of state departments were proposed in the state senate today with the presentation of the body of Senator Titus' bill, providing for the abolishment of several departments and the consolidation of others.

The bill, similar to one introduced by the Fond du Lac senator three years ago, contained 42 typewritten pages and recommended sweeping changes in the present administration of state affairs. A central commission would be empowered with the duties now performed by numerous state departments.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE SIGNS CORN BORER BILL

Washington—(AP)—The bill appropriating $100,000 for extermination of the European corn borer was signed by President Coolidge. The appropriation will be expended in cooperation with the states, which will be expected also to appropriate funds to fight the corn borer. Administration of the law will be under the secretary of agriculture.

BADGER COPS UNCOVER TWO HUGE STILLS

Lincoln and Kenosha-co Officials Prepare to Prosecute Owners of Plants

Milwaukee—(AP)—State officials in Lincoln and Kenosha-co Wednesday were preparing to prosecute men seized in connection with raids Tuesday on two of the largest alcohol plants uncovered in Wisconsin since prohibition went into effect.

In Lincoln-co, in the heart of the north woods, a dozen men, with pistols drawn, seized a distillery which is believed to have been the source of a large part of the liquor supply reaching Chicago. Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul and a number of smaller cities in Wisconsin and adjoining states. Five men were arrested.

Assembling at Tonawah, the raiding party which included Lincoln-co officials, police chiefs of several cities, state conservation wardens and state prohibition agents, made their way to the plant, 12 miles northeast of Tonawah, deep in timber section.

TWO LARGE STILLS
A hurried inventory of the outfit showed that it was operated by seven gasoline engines and included a water system with an aqueduct from a spring 40 rods distant. Machinery filling a barn was found along with two stills of 400 and 200 gallons capacity, 1,200 gallons of alcohol, 15,000 gallons of corn mash, 20 tons of sugar and a large number of barrels.

The five men seized by the raiding party were taken completely by surprise. They were at work at the stills when the raiders came. The men rendered quietly. A large quantity of shotguns and rifles also were found on the premises. The men gave their names as Andrew Amelise, Ellis Khoury, Abe Khoury, John Bula and John Preboski. They were taken to Merrill, where they pleaded guilty under the state prohibition act to the manufacture and sale of liquor. Their cases were continued to permit state authorities to complete their inventory of the evidence seized.

RAID NEAR TWIN LAKES
Sheriff John Wattles of Kenosha-co, arrested two men and seized 7,000 gallons of mash and 500 gallons of finished alcohol in a raid conducted on a barn near Twin Lakes, 10 miles west of Kenosha.

The still and machinery were worth about $25,000, according to Sheriff Wattles. The sheriff seized about 200 books which bore names of persons believed to have been customers of the distillery. Deputies estimated that the plant furnished enough alcohol to take care of the trade in southeastern Wisconsin.

FATE OF RUDNER IS IN HANDS OF JURY

Judge Instructs Jurymen That Abettor Need Not Be Present at Time of Murder

Courthouse, Canton, Ohio—(AP)—The fate of Ben Rudner, indicted for the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton editor, was placed in the hands of the jury at 10:30 Wednesday morning.

Judge Abraham W. Agler instructed the jury that, since the state did not charge that Rudner was present when Mellett was killed last July, "an aider or abettor need not be present when a crime is committed, he need not be the only aider or abettor and he need not be the originator of the design" to be equally guilty with the person actually committing the offense.

As the 10,000 word charge was being read, the room was emptied of spectators and guarded by Sheriff Ed Gibson and nine deputies. The precaution was taken as a result of reports that gangsters from Toledo were enroute to Canton to liberate Rudner if he is convicted.

WARM WEATHER SPOILS ICE YACHTING REGATTA

Menominee, Mich.—(AP)—The spring like weather here this week is causing havoc with the annual Northwest-ern Ice Yachting association regatta. The ice is very soft, and about an inch of water covers the surface. In the free-for-all races Tuesday, The Andy, owned and manned by H. C. Povlek of Milwaukee, was first in a 12 mile race. The time was 37 minutes and 13 seconds. The wind was fair Tuesday but the soft ice made the races slow. The Amy, Camp Vandike of Milwaukee, skipper and owner, was the second ship to pass the judges' stand, making the course in 37 minutes 55 seconds.

JANESVILLE MAN LOSES SUIT AGAINST RAILROAD

Madison—(AP)—A. C. Metzinger, Janesville, lost his $30,000 damage suit against the Northwestern railway and R. W. Perry, conductor, by a decision of a Dane-co circuit court jury. The jury found that Perry was acting in self-defense when he took Metzinger into custody on a train in 1925. The verdict also held that the conductor did not use more force than was necessary in effecting the arrest. The controversy arose over payment of fare.

LARGE OHIO BANK FAILS TO OPEN DOORS TODAY

Marietta, Ohio—(AP)—The Central National bank, with resources listed at approximately $3,000,000, failed to open Wednesday. A notice, posted by the bank, stated the institution had been closed by order of the board of directors, and that the controller of the currency had been notified.

RULE ATTENDS HEARING ON LEGISLATIVE BILL

Mayor A. C. Rule is in Madison Wednesday to attend a hearing on a bill relating to the evaluation of property. The bill was up for hearing at 2 o'clock. Oscar J. Schmieg of Appleton, assemblyman from the first Otsego district, also was to attend.

TO DISPLACE BILL FAILS

House Rules Committee Agrees to Limit Debate to Stop Filibuster

HOLD ALL NIGHT SESSION

Senate Filibuster Brings Longest Meeting Since Early War Days

Washington—(AP)—With the senate in a deadlock over the measure, the house rules committee Wednesday agreed to recommend privileged legislation status for the Swing-Johnson Boulder Canyon Dam bill.

The committee will submit to the house for consideration a rule limiting general debate to six hours. Chairman Shell of the committee said he would confer with the Republican steering committee as to when the bill would be brought before the house, Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the Republican house leader, has called a meeting of the house steering committee. Adoption of the rule by the house would make impossible long filibusters such as that in progress in the senate.

TRY TO DISPLACE BILL
An effort to displace the Boulder Canyon bill before the senate was made shortly after noon Wednesday by the Republican floor leader, Senator Curtis, of Kansas.

To a senate worn down by an all night session the Kansas senator proposed a unanimous consent agreement that the Boulder Canyon bill, faced by a continuing filibuster, be laid aside, and the administration's prohibition reorganization bill taken up in its stead. Senator Edwards, Democrat, New Jersey, objects, and Curtis put the proposal in a form of a vote. A debate followed. After a 10-hour session, Senator Curtis withdrew his motion, thus keeping the bill before the senate.

With a hard night behind it, a bedraggled senate stumbled along Wednesday in a continuation of the longest session it has held since the early war days.

Senator Hiram Johnson of California, was the driving force behind the parliamentary wrestling match, and his bill for a "great government dam at Boulder canyon" furnished the prize of the war. Senator Johnson, however, opposing it, was aided in their filibuster again and again during the night by failure of the sergeant-at-arms to command a quorum, even when armed with warrants of arrest.

With the coming of daylight dozens of senators who had successfully resisted the officers of the law during the night trooped into the chamber to keep company with the little band of the faithful who had been on watch all night, and the fight went on much as though there had been the usual overnight recess.

Twice the sergeant-at-arms was given a blank check and ordered to arrest the absentees as the senate sat yawning, unable to continue without a quorum and refusing to recess.

JOHNSON LEADS FIGHT
Senator Johnson, Republican, California co-author of the bill, time and again filibustered, led by Senators Cameron and Ashurst of Arizona, to continue against time, but he was apparently leading a hopeless fight after failing to obtain a vote during the night, as the measure faces early displacement as the unfinished business of the senate.

Dawn found the senate completely deadlocked for the second time with a handful of sleepy senators in their seats, some still dressed in evening clothes, awaiting the leisure of their colleagues to complete a quorum. Only 25 answered "present" at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning roll call, 29 less.

After a 10-hour session, Senator Curtis withdrew his motion, thus keeping the bill before the senate.

With a hard night behind it, a bedraggled senate stumbled along Wednesday in a continuation of the longest session it has held since the early war days.

Senator Hiram Johnson of California, was the driving force behind the parliamentary wrestling match, and his bill for a "great government dam at Boulder canyon" furnished the prize of the war. Senator Johnson, however, opposing it, was aided in their filibuster again and again during the night by failure of the sergeant-at-arms to command a quorum, even when armed with warrants of arrest.

With the coming of daylight dozens of senators who had successfully resisted the officers of the law during the night trooped into the chamber to keep company with the little band of the faithful who had been on watch all night, and the fight went on much as though there had been the usual overnight recess.

Twice the sergeant-at-arms was given a blank check and ordered to arrest the absentees as the senate sat yawning, unable to continue without a quorum and refusing to recess.

JOHNSON LEADS FIGHT
Senator Johnson, Republican, California co-author of the bill, time and again filibustered, led by Senators Cameron and Ashurst of Arizona, to continue against time, but he was apparently leading a hopeless fight after failing to obtain a vote during the night, as the measure faces early displacement as the unfinished business of the senate.

Dawn found the senate completely deadlocked for the second time with a handful of sleepy senators in their seats, some still dressed in evening clothes, awaiting the leisure of their colleagues to complete a quorum. Only 25 answered "present" at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning roll call, 29 less.

PIONEERS RELIVE EARLY DAYS HERE AT ANNUAL MEETING

Old Age Is Time for Rejuvenation of Spirit, Mullenix Says in Address

"Remember way back when—" "And we all grew up together." "I pulled out my bayonet and I let drive." That's what was heard in the big crowd of laughing, joking, happy pioneers, many of them with white hair and deep wrinkles, at the fifty-fifth annual meeting of the Outagamie County Pioneers' association in Old Fellow building Tuesday afternoon. More than 350 men and women, many of whom lived here, when it was known as "north," attended the meeting.

"We are not 'Old Timers' in any sense of the word. Rather I think the latter years of life should be the great and satisfying years instead of periods of senescent reminiscing," said Dr. R. C. Mullenix of Lawrenceville in the feature address of the program.

BACK TO CHILDHOOD
"There is a period in human life known as the second childhood. If by that is meant the period of one's dotage, it is not a condition any of us would willingly enter," declared Dr. Mullenix. "But you know that Jesus said, 'Except a man become as a little child he cannot enter the kingdom of heaven.' May we not think of these latter years as a period of rejuvenation, of a renewal of youth, a casting off of the urbanity, reserve and reticence of adulthood and a return to the frankness, the simplicity of childhood?"

Dr. Mullenix referred to the business of childhood as education. He compared the accumulations of experience known as knowledge to the tools of civilization. The kit of tools is indispensable in the journey of life and contains certain maxims of life, ideals of character, standards of conduct, attitudes of mind as well as the multiplication table.

"In the twenties we launch out on the stream of life, buoyant with faith, hope, aspiration and enthusiasm," Dr. Mullenix said. "Too often, in the stream of life, with now a success, now a victory, now a defeat, now an achievement, now a disappointment, we lose faith in the maxims of the copy books, the precepts of our parents and the ideals of our youth. We come to discount the Golden Rule, to discredit the sermon on the mount, turn our backs on the poetry of life and become 'practical men.' We become disillusioned, sophisticated, hardened, cynical.

THE GENTLE AGE
"How many instances have you known of men, who, after the battles of the thirties, the victories and successes of the forties, the arrogance and relentlessness of the fifties, were by the experiences of life mellowed and made gentle in the sixties. When one has mastered the technique of living he emerges from the woods and finds that after all, disillusionment is the greatest illusion; that after all Jesus was right, it is the meek who inherit the earth and the poor in spirit whose is the kingdom of heaven.

"The decades come and go and with them comes a changing of our understanding of life and our attitude toward life. We should renew our youth in our later decades, take again to our hearts the ideals and dreams, the simplicity and un sophistication of childhood," Dr. Mullenix declared in closing.

"This is the finest crowd of pioneers that ever attended our annual meeting in recent years and I am proud and happy to welcome you here," said President W. F. Saecker in his address of welcome. W. E. Smith was elected president of the association for the coming year. Other officers were elected as follows: Dr. H. K. Pratt, vice president; Fred E. Hoffman, secretary; T. H. Ryan, A. W. Frost, W. H. Zuehlke and W. F. Saecker, directors.

Judge Edgar V. Werner praised pioneer associations for upholding the principles of George Washington and he said that the duty of the pioneers was to pass on their traditions to the younger generations.

W. R. Johnson, who lived here more than 70 years, spoke of some of his early recollections of the county. He said the first dim recollection of life in Appleton was when he was standing in the doorway of his home about two miles north of the Odd Fellow building watching through the woods for his grandfather, Col. Johnston, whose home was about where the Y. M. C. A. now stands.

Mr. Johnston said the only road in the county at that time was a plank road from Neenah to Kaukauna. He said there was not a clearing in the county of more than 10 or 15 acres. He told of some of the other early settlers.

"I do not believe the boys of today are having any more fun than when we were boys," he said. "We could take a gun and hunt within a mile from home any time without a license. And what is better than hot maple syrup direct from the boiling kettle in the spring of the year? And how many boys of today could break a colt, or harness a colt or go out in the woods with an axe and come home with a load of wood all ready for the stove."

OTHER SPEAKERS

Other men who made addresses were Judge Fred V. Henneman, Mrs. Phillips, P. H. Vaughn, William Wilson, sheriff of Outagamie-co 25 years ago, Mrs. Emma Brown, Orville Mann, F. E. Saecker and Richard Miller.

Instrumental music was furnished by the John Conservatory trio. Mrs. Dorothy Harriman and Mrs. H. K. Pratt sang vocal solos. The Rev. V. B. Scott, pastor of Memorial Presbyterian church opened the meeting with prayer and closed with benediction.

SHORT BUT BUSY WEEK IS STARTED IN STATE SENATE

Expect More Lawmaking This Week Than in Any Previous Period

Madison—(P)—The senate "short week" starting Wednesday morning after a four day vacation, is carrying a full calendar and will probably witness the accomplishment of more actual law making than any previous week's session. The program includes five measures up for action and 23 bills for third reading.

A conservation bill, introduced by Senator Markham, Horicon, which has been recommended by the committee on state and local government for immediate postponement, probably will be brought up for discussion. Senator Markham has said he will carry his fight to the senate floor.

The measure calls for the abolition of the office of conservation commissioner and creation of a non-paid commission of six members to be appointed by the governor. The term of each member would be six years. The commission would elect a conservation director whose term of office would be at the pleasure of the commission. No salary is stipulated.

UNLIMITED POWER

The proposed new commission would have almost unlimited powers regarding conservation, even to the making of laws governing closed seasons on game and fish.

The assembly will not have any measures brought before it for final action or for a third reading, but ten bills will be up for engrossment, and a measure by Assemblyman Thomas Duncan, Milwaukee, providing that only training schools for the approved list of the state superintendent, be given state aid, will be under consideration.

Measures to be brought up in the senate for final action are:

A bill by Senator White, Winneconne, to appropriate $20,000 annually for the purpose of removing rough fish from various lakes and rivers throughout the state.

Providing that all moneys received from leases on state forest lands be paid into the reforestation fund, by Senator Johnson, Superior.

To appropriate $2,500 to the state board of control as an emergency appropriation for the operation of the Wisconsin school for deaf and state industrial home, by Senator A. Sautloff, Madison.

Providing for an appropriation of $1,925 to Hon. Henry Johnson, former state treasurer to reimburse him for amounts paid by him pursuant to judgments in case of Maryland Casualty Company against Henry Johnson, such judgments being attorney's fees and costs, by Senator Sautloff.

Providing that superintendents of all county institutions shall make complete reports to board of trustees for preceding month, and upon any other matter concerning said institution, as the board may require, introduced by Senator Titus, Fond du Lac.

REAL WASHINGTON COMING TO LIGHT, ROTARIANS TOLD

Dr. Wriston Commends Modern Tendency to Present Great Characters as They Were

"The life of George Washington has not been generally understood, the real man in him has been hidden and recent biographies fail to portray correctly the true first president of the United States," said Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of Lawrence college in a Washington's birthday address at the weekly meeting of the Rotary club at Hotel Northern Tuesday noon.

"There has been a healthy reaction among biographers against deification of the dead," said President Wriston. "Such historical distortions tend to make us pessimistic about the present. The doctrine that men of the past were giants, and that men of today are plagues, promotes discouragement. Washington has been so distorted, he was made to appear as a wise, a sort of goodly, goodly man. He is now up for reassessment. Recent biographies of Washington have attempted to paint a human figure. This is a difficult task, and I am bound to say that I consider them failures, too."

In one of these new biographies, the statement that Washington's "inner life was dim." "This is a conveniently vague phrase," the speaker said. "Character is a reflection of inner life. Integrity does not come from mist or fog, or twilight. Devotion does not come from a groping soul. Moral courage does not arise from cloudy perceptions. Faith is not the fruit of a 'dim inner life'."

The Lawrence mentor pictured Washington as a man of vision, though not in the least visionary. "Washington never saw an intellectual mirage. He was not at all speculative. His life was not cast in surroundings to make it possible. He was always face to face with immediate problems, and he had no opportunity for closet or cloister. He had no abounding imagination; his diary shows that. Yet, he had a vision—of a west united with the Atlantic seaboard."

"Washington was a man of purpose. He meant to be the very best sort of man in each situation. Washington was a man of faith. No disappointment dimmed his belief that the United States could be made a nation, although his instruments at hand were very poor. He was a man of industry. He saw it in his private life, and we see it in his public life. He was a man of courage, courage to take responsibility. Washington had infinite self-restraint. Washington was marked by integrity."

"His life was integral, well knit, it had unity. That unity was upon so high a plane that he stood out. However, Parson Weems distorted the 'Father-I-cannot-tell-a-lie' story, the fact is that his life may be followed detail by detail, and the qualities that stand out are sincerity, fairness, loyalty, devotion, and integrity."

"BOOTLEG BLACKMAIL" NEW STUNT IN PARIS

Paris (AP)—"Bootleg blackmail" is a new industry of crime uncovered by French police.

Americans of prominence, it is said, frequently are shadowed by a photographer who follows his man until he gets a good picture of the American taking a drink and, preferably, in some night cabaret where dancers are likely to get into the photograph.

The plate and a print are offered to the American after he returns to his home town and usually he thinks it worth while to pay a good price.

THEY PROVE ENGLISH IS SINGABLE

ENGLISH has been proven singable by the English Singers of London who will appear in a concert at Lawrence Memorial chapel Thursday evening as the third of the series of concerts presented by the Community Artist series. The tongue has been so maltreated by vocalists as to give rise to the belief that it is unsingable but this group of three men and three women have demonstrated the fallacy in this belief, so critics and audiences who have heard the troop proclaim.

Their programs comprise a variety of long hidden but beautiful songs from the Elizabethan period of a literary and musical art. They represent the acme of part-song composition and demand perfect diction and accurate enunciation of the text. It is their business to make the words clear and intelligible and they have brought this part of their art to such a degree of proficiency as to banish, once and for all time, any notion regarding the unsingability of English.

In these motets, madrigals, folk-songs, ballads, and canzonets, it is indispensable that they sing "a capella" (without accompaniment) and it is most effective when entrusted to a limited number of vocalists.

Changes of tone, embracing every shade of difference between loud and soft, and introduced often by the most delicate gradations of strongly marked contrasts, are continually demanded of the singers both because of the character of the music and the sense of the words. The slightest uncertainty of intonation of rhythm is apt to ruin the effect, it is said. So skilfully do the English Singers present this most difficult phase of vocal art that the auditor is said to be unaware that it is art. The ease and surety of their work gives the impression that it is the simplest thing possible, whereas it is the most difficult, one critic said.

CHANGE SWIMMING POOL TO ENLARGE WATER PLANT

The public grounds and building committee met at 7:30 Tuesday evening to discuss proposed changes in the city swimming pool on W. Water-st. The changes are necessary to permit improvements of the water department plant. The committee has asked R. M. Connelly, city engineer, to draw a sketch of the proposed changes so that they might better understand just what will be done. Members of this committee are Aldermen Wenzel Hassman, chairman, Mike Steinhauer and C. D. Thompson.

MEATING SENDS OUT RURAL EXAMINATIONS

Examination questions for the fourth six weeks period of rural schools were sent out from the office of A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, this week. The examinations will be conducted Friday.

Outlines of work for the fifth sixth weeks period, the next to the last for the school year, accompanied the examinations. Definitely planned lessons are prepared by the county superintendent in physiology, geography, language, civics.

Through use of the plan, lessons, pupils throughout the county cover the same work in approximately the same time, according to Mr. Meating. The plans also give the teacher more time to work out the procedures in recitations and to look up references.

BASKETBALL MEETING

Representatives of the eight teams of the Y. M. C. A. Industrial Basketball League will meet at the association building Wednesday evening. Several additions will be made to rosters of the teams and other players will be dropped. Routine business will complete the meeting.

COMMISSION LISTS 12 HEARINGS HERE

Cases Will Be Heard Wednesday and Thursday, March 2, 3, at Courthouse

The Industrial Commission of Wisconsin will hold hearings in 12 cases under the workmen's compensation act at the courthouse next week, according to A. J. Altmeyer, secretary of the commission.

Informal consultation by employers and employees upon other matters which have arisen under the compensation act, and questions upon rights or duties under this law, will be welcomed by the commission, Mr. Altmeyer indicated.

Twelve cases are listed for hearing next Wednesday and Thursday, March 2 and 3. The calendar for Wednesday follows: Harmon Taber vs Bergstrom Paper Co., 9 a. m.; Mrs. George Larson vs Hotel Appleton, 10 a. m.; Ernest Mehl vs Moloch company, 11 a. m.; Gertrude Elsch vs Menasha Printing Co., 1:30 p. m.; Charles Labbits vs Menasha Woodware Co., 2 p. m.; George Handrich vs Borden Condensed Milk Co., 2:30 p. m.

HUGE AUDIENCE IN HIGH SCHOOL LIKES GLEE CLUB'S PLAY

Mexican Musical Play Enthusiastically Received by Big Crowd

Neenah—The high school boys and girls' glee club gave the opera "Peppita" as its annual offering Tuesday evening at Kimberly high school before an audience which packed the large auditorium. The opera will be repeated Wednesday evening.

The young people gave a creditable performance of the Mexican musical play which had been rehearsed by Miss Katherine L. Jones, instructor of music. The cast was headed by Gwendolyn Breidinger in the name part. She was assisted by Donald Iruela as Pedro, an inn keeper; Jeanette Bessix as Filipa, his daughter; Robert Marty as Carlos, an outlaw; Glenn Smith as an American millionaire; Eleanor Eberlein as his daughter; Robert Gillespie as Wilson, his father; and Earle Armstrong, a smuggler.

The principals were assisted in the musical numbers by an old fashioned chorus of Dorothy Gottfried, Bernice Hanson, Irene Hoyman, Mae Royman, Alfreda Johnson, Catherine Murphy, Irene Riesenweber and Lucille Rusch. The boys' chorus was composed of George Bretun, Gordon Fisher, Albert Foster, Ralph Hauser, Howard Hoyman, Adelbert Jensen, Bryon Jensen, Alex McKinstry, Francis Olson, Stanley Severson, Stanley Staffeld and Henry Werner.

JURY CONDEMNS LAND FOR EXTENDING STREET

Neenah—The jury in Winnebago court granted the application of the city of Neenah to condemn lands necessary of the extension of Maple Grove and Chestnut-sts. George H. Kelly, city attorney, presented the case. There was no contest.

The council adopted a resolution on Sept. 15, to extend the three streets to the south limits of the city. A resolution declaring the necessity of a condemnation proceeding also was adopted. The jury declared it found "that it is necessary to condemn the real estate sought to be condemned in this proceeding for public use."

With the decision the court appointed H. M. Northrup, Charles Schultz and Henry Oelke as appraisers. This committee will set a date for a hearing.

DORNBROOK FINISHES FOUR STORE BUILDINGS

Neenah—The four new store buildings on W. Wisconsin-ave erected by Edward Dornbrook have been completed. Three of the new buildings have been leased to business concerns. New buildings are of red brick and stone.

NEENAH SOCIETY

Neenah—One hundred couples of dancers attended the Washington Birthday party given Tuesday evening by the social club of Kane Lodge Masons in Masonic temple. The 111 was decorated with colored streamers and colored lights. The guests were received at the door by Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Bessix who represented George and Martha Washington; Maurice Olson and Ruth Stacker as color bearers, and Harry Hays as Uncle Sam and George Sherman as Benjamin Franklin. Music was furnished by Military orchestra.

The Eagle drum corps will go to Appleton Thursday evening where it will be entertained by the aerle corps of that city.

Appleton Knights of Pythias degree team assisted in initiating a class of candidates from the local Appleton chapters Tuesday evening. A smoker followed the work. Friday evening the Neenah lodge will go to Appleton.

Dr. George Williamson was the speaker Tuesday evening before the meeting of the Fraternity club of the Methodist church which followed the regular monthly supper held in the church dining room. He talked on "Alcohol." Following the talk a general discussion of the life of George Washington was conducted by the Rev. I. E. Schlagenhauf as leader. Marvin Hanson was chairman of the supper committee. The next meeting will be on March 8 and will be "Boys Night." D. E. Lampert will be leader.

Mrs. Nellie Whitpen entertained a group of women Tuesday evening at her home on Third-ave. at a shower for her daughter, Mrs. George Abenroth of Winnebago, who was married two weeks ago. A luncheon was served after which the evening was spent in playing games. Prizes were won by Mrs. Edward Abenroth and Mrs. Clarence Shimmers.

TAXPAYERS URGED TO CALL ON U. S. AGENT FOR HELP

Won't Send Representative if People Don't Make Use of His Help

Neenah—P. Holzberg of Milwaukee, internal revenue representative, gave a talk Tuesday noon at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club at Valley Inn. Mr. Holzberg gave the history of the income tax law, explained the revisions and changes that had been made since 1913, and showed how exceptions have been increased.

Over $9,000 returns are filed annually in the state of Wisconsin, Mr. Holzberg reported. Individual returns are inspected in the Milwaukee branch of the revenue department, but corporation returns are inspected in Washington. That frequent errors are made by tax payers in which they pay more than the legal requirements is the contention of Mr. Holzberg, because individuals are not familiar with all the phases of the income tax law; and it is for the purpose of assisting the public that the government sends a representative to Neenah and other cities, so that errors may be avoided. However, if the public does not ask for help, or only a limited number request assistance, which apparently is true in Neenah, a tax assistant will not be sent here in the future.

"The Federal government follows a very liberal policy," the speaker stated. "It assumes that all tax payers are honest. An interesting side light is the information that Secretary Mellon, a few years ago, refunded to tax payers, corporations and individuals, $170,000,000 with interest at 6 per cent per annum for over payment of their income taxes.

"Neenah is fortunate in having a tax specialist sent here. However if this is to continue, individuals should make greater use of his services otherwise this service might be suspended hereafter." Mr. Holzberg will be here until March 1 after which he will be succeeded by Guy Johnson of Madison.

District Governor Joshua L. Johns of Appleton, will be the speaker at the next Tuesday noon meeting of the club.

NEW WATER POWER SITES INCREASE STATE HORSEPOWER

Hydro-electric Plants in Wisconsin Produce 474,000 Horsepower

Madison.—(P)—Water power sites in Wisconsin now developed will add from 150,000 to 200,000 horsepower to the power capacity of the state when they are harnessed, the committee on hydraulic engineering of the Engineering Society of Wisconsin reported at the closing session of the convention.

At present hydro-electric plants in Wisconsin are producing some 474,000 horsepower, of which 326,000 is generated by public utilities company plants, and 138,000 by privately owned plants, the committee reported.

The committee reported data taken on the efficiency of three new types of modifications of old types of turbines for the operation of hydro-electric power generators.

The society will not introduce a bill for the state licensing of engineers in the state legislature this year, it was decided by convention. The next campaign will be carried on during the next biennial to solidify the support of the profession back of the bill before it is presented to the state legislature, it was said.

Wisconsin cities are turning to concrete for pavements, and are discarding waterbound and bituminous macadam, brick, and wood blocks, the report of the committee on pavements indicates. Figures on paving laid in 21 cities of the state during the past five years were analyzed to yield this information. Only one city was reported as using a gravel type of pavement. "Black top pavement," the report states, "is quite uniform," the report stated.

The committee recommended that engineers pay more attention to the use of old pavement as a base for new street surfacing pointing to economies resulting from this practice in Milwaukee, Madison, Fond du Lac and Kohler.

"This committee is of the opinion that most of our engineers do not give sufficient consideration to their secondary streets," the report concluded. "If these streets were curbed, graded, and had drainage facilities installed, a wearing surface of crushed stone, gravel, slag, or some other cheap material could be used to carry the traffic until a higher type pavement was necessary, the old pavement then being used as a foundation for the new wearing surface."

ADVERTISING CLASS TO STUDY DISTRIBUTION

Method of distribution will be discussed at the sixth lesson of a class in advertising for beginners at the Appleton Vocational school Friday evening. W. W. Frank of the Fair store will conduct the class. The course is being sponsored by the Appleton Advertising club whose members have charge of the weekly lessons. Other topics which will be discussed are: The classes of merchandise adapted to the various methods, the function of the jobber, selling the dealer by advertising, and forcing consumer demand. The lesson will be followed by an open-forum discussion.

Magazine Racks Are Made By Class In Wood Working

Magazine racks have been made by the wood working class at Appleton high school as a factory problem wherein each student specialized in one part of the work. The division of labor practiced in modern industrial plants was carried out by the high school class so far as possible, Harry Cameron, teacher of the class, said.

Twenty-five baskets have been made by the 18 boys in the class. High standards of workmanship were demanded of the students, the teacher said. About 20 processes were involved.

Machines were used whenever possible in the making of the baskets. The wood was sanded with small cylinders and lathes and the parts assembled. Each basket was numbered so that the quality of work of each group of students could be checked. A bright lacquer finish will be put on the racks with an air brush recently purchased at the school. Gay colors will have the shaded effects found in the professionally made baskets and they will be decorated with transfer patterns. All of the work for the original drawings to the painting will be done by the students.

The boys were urged to buy the racks themselves and many of them did so, but any left were sold to others. The proceeds from the baskets will be used to help pay for the airbrush, Mr. Cameron said.

Plummer addresses DANE-CO LEGIONAIRES. H. L. Plummer, past state commander of the American Legion and present national executive committee man from Wisconsin was the principal speaker at a meeting of Legionaires, members of the Legion auxiliary and of the 40 and 8 Society of Dane-co Tuesday evening at Hotel Lorraine, Madison.

Approximately 300 members of the three organizations in the county were present. Mr. Plummer spoke on Washington's Ideas on Preparedness.

SIXTH GRADE STUDENTS GET WRITING AWARDS. Three boys in the sixth grade of Columbus school have been awarded master's certificates in the economy writing system by the Laurel Book Co. of Chicago.

Specimens of their penmanship will be taken by the company to the national convention of superintendents of schools in the United States at Dallas, Tex., next week. Edgar Eskridge, Charles Ehke and Arthur Blake were the boys awarded the certificates. In sixth grade classes only junior diplomas are supposed to be granted but the writing of these boys was of such an unusual quality that the regulation was overruled, Miss Margaret Comerford, teacher of the grade, said.

The economy system was introduced in the Appleton schools at Thanksgiving time this year. These are the first diplomas granted in the city.

Costumes for the operetta to be presented will be discussed and material for making them will be distributed to the teachers.

CIVIC CHAMBER OFFERS TRANSLATION SERVICE. Business men of Appleton, who receive business letters in French, Spanish and other foreign languages will be able to have them translated without cost through the chamber of commerce, according to Hugh G. Corbett, secretary. They need only to take the letters to Mr. Corbett who has interpreters for practically every foreign language ready to translate the messages.

A final rehearsal will be held at the chapel Monday, March 7, the supervisor said.

BOY OFFICERS MAY BE GIVEN STARS AS MEMENTOES OF DAY

Boys who held city offices for one day last week will be given stars, engraved with the boys' name and the date and the office he held, under a plan sponsored by Mayor A. C. Rule. The matter will be presented at the next council meeting for consideration. According to Mayor Rule, most of the aldermen favor the plan.

The stars will be nickel plated and will be given to the boys as a remembrance of the day. About 25 boys will receive stars, according to the mayor.

LAW IS CITED IN CASES OF MEASLES

Outbreaks Are Made Worse by Failure to Report Disease to Authorities

Madison.—(P)—Holding that outbreaks of measles are made worse by the failure to report new cases, the state board of health has sent to certain affected districts a letter citing the law and the rights of the public in such situations.

"The fact that Wisconsin had 142 deaths from measles in 1926 is proof," it said, "that these diseases are of more consequence than many are led to believe. The neighborhood where such disease exists is entitled to protection and the citizens are entitled to proper knowledge of locations and homes affected by it. Pneumonia is often a complication in these minor diseases, especially in young children."

The law was quoted to show that cases are reportable by the physician or attendance or by the head of the family. The provision for reporting is broader still, for it is also provided that "anyone having knowledge or reason to believe that any persons has a communicable disease shall report the facts to the local health officer."

A penalty applies for any violation. Adults are not required to remain at home in the case of a so-called placardable disease, as chickenpox, measles, etc., and it is held that no special hardship is placed on any family when such cases are properly reported.

CLASSES RECEIVE CUP CREDIT AT GAGE GAMES

Credit for the school spirit cup will be given the class having the largest attendance at games during the basketball season at Roosevelt junior high school, the student council decided at a recent meeting. One-half point will be awarded the grade with the largest representation.

Three colors of tickets are sold for each game, one color representing each class. After the games they are counted, thus determining the number from each class attending. The council has taken the responsibility of sponsoring the games and selling tickets. Athletic meets at the school are held in the afternoon.

Social events for each class have been arranged by the council, which has representatives from each class. The ninth grade party was held two weeks ago and the seventh and eighth grade affairs will be announced soon.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application of two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold. Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for only 15 cents, all ready for use.

It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair. Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound new because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it, and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

Adults are not required to remain at home in the case of a so-called placardable disease, as chickenpox, measles, etc., and it is held that no special hardship is placed on any family when such cases are properly reported.

Overwhelming Preference

One of the factors in Chrysler's amazing advance from twenty-seventh to fourth place in three years' time—has been the widespread recognition of the startling difference in full size, performance and appearance between the Chrysler "50" and the only four other four-cylinder cars of large production.

By the simple process of a mental comparison of the "50" with these four other four-cylinder cars, the public has discovered in the Chrysler "50" elements of progressiveness in such striking contrast as to compel a decision in favor of the Chrysler "50".

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
From the veranda of the Hotel Majestic, at Ocean Town, N. J., TITUS RIGGS, a guest, sees a man taken from the ocean and laid on the beach while a crowd gathers to stare. The reader has been introduced to these bathers:
NED BARRON, the copper king, and his wife, MADELINE; ANGELICA FAIR and her fiancé, ROBIN SEARS; ROBIN's father, CROYDON SEARS; CAMELITA VALDON, and her companions, ROGER NEVILLE, GABRIEL FOLSON and MRS. BARNABY, whom everyone calls THE DUCHESS.

From the shocked expression on the faces of the throng, Riggs surmises that the man is dead and, putting down his field glasses, he hastens down to the beach to learn that the dead man is Garrett Folsom.

The body is brought to the hotel and Folsom's valet, ROSS, is summoned.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER III
Clearly, very desirous to stay in that room of death unless obliged to do so, "Is—that my master, sir?" Ross said, looking intently at the shrouded figure.

"We assume it is," Dixon returned gently, for he was of a kindly nature. He turned back the blanket and with a slight shudder Ross looked at the dead man.

"Yes," he said, "yes, sir, that is Mr. Folsom. I am his man. What happened to him?"

"We only know that he died while in bathing. Was he subject to cramp or acute indigestion, or any sudden illness?"

"No, sir. That is, not to say subject to such. But he has had cramp in the water, and he has also had indigestion attacks. But never what I would call serious. Are you—are you sure he's—gone, sir? He looks so life-like, you see."

"There's no hope, my man. He is surely dead. Are you here alone with him?"

"Yes, sir. We came yesterday afternoon. Got in about four."

"From where?"

"From New York City last. But Mr. Folsom lives in Chicago."

"I know. Now, we may want to question you further later. But just now we have to do the most necessary things first. Who are Mr. Folsom's friends here?"

"Mr. Roger Neville, sir, is his friend and they're associated in business too. I suppose he'll—er—take charge of everything, sir."

"Yes, I suppose so. Has Mr. Folsom left a wife—a widow?"

"Oh, on, sir, he wasn't married. He has a sister in Chicago, that's all his relatives—except a nephew."

"How long have you been with Mr. Folsom?"

"Nearly four years."

"Have you been down here with him before?"

"Yes, sir. Three years ago. Not since that."

"Where were you this morning when Mr. Folsom went in bathing?"

people and advise us as to what to do with the body?"

"As to his people, he has a sister in Chicago who will, of course, be the one most interested. I suppose it would be best to telegraph her and await her reply. Then doubtless the body will have to be sent to his Chicago home."

"Probably," agreed Dixon. "He was a rich man."

"Of and on," said Neville, with a dry smile. "He was a lawyer, but he had various other interests. And he was the sort of man who makes a fortune one day and loses it the next."

"Speculation?"

"Yes. Stock gambling. But he was an important man, and he must be looked after properly. I am ready to do anything I can, of course, but I confess I don't want to send the wife to Miss Folsom, telling her of her brother's death. Can't the hotel do that?"

"Yes, certainly. Who else here was a friend of Mr. Folsom's?"

"If only came yesterday, you know, and though I dare say plenty of people here in the hotel knew him, or knew of him, I'm not sure I can name any."

"You were with him this morning. Who else was in the party?"

Reluctantly Neville gave the names of Mrs. Barnaby and Mrs. Valdon. He knew they would resent this, for it might lead to unpleasant publicity, but he could see no way out.

"Why do you hesitate, Mr. Neville?" asked the astute Dixon. "Surely these ladies can have no objection to announcing their friendship with Mr. Folsom."

"No, not that," Neville responded, "but they naturally shrink from the idea of being interviewed by reporters, and all that."

"Oh, I don't believe Mr. Folsom is such a widely known character that his death will make a great stir so far away from his home."

Pelham, the hotel manager, said this with a sudden return of his dignity and pride in his house, which he felt had harbored too many celebrities to be greatly concerned with the death of a Chicago lawyer.

"Well," Dixon said, "I'll send the telegram to the sister—what is her address, Mr. Neville? And would it be better to send it to someone else, a brother lawyer or business friend, and let him tell the lady?"

"No," Neville told him, "don't try to break it gently. Miss Folsom is not that sort. Tell her the straight facts. She will take of standing, and unless I miss my guess, she will come here by the first possible train."

"I hope she will," Pelham said. "That will relieve us of all responsibility. Meantime I think we can send the body to the undertaker."

"After we get the doctor's certificate," Dixon amended. "Were you at Mr. Folsom's side when he went down, Mr. Neville?"

"Oh, no, I was some distance away. Mr. Folsom was holding on to the rope."

"Who was next to him? The ladies of your party?"

"I suppose so. I'll not sure."

TUBERCULOSIS IS TAKING HOLD OF STATE'S POULTRY

Eradication of Disease Has Become of Great Economic Importance

Madison—(P)—Spread of tuberculosis among Wisconsin poultry during the last decade has placed great economic importance upon its eradication, the extension department at the University of Wisconsin declares in report on the disease.

"At the present time," the report stated, "there are few communities in Wisconsin where this dreaded disease has not secured a foothold. This fact makes tuberculosis a factor of great economic importance to the man who raises poultry. Moreover, the nature of the disease is such that the suspicion of the caretaker is not

"I must see them. It is necessary to learn more of the particulars of his death, if possible."

The inquiry into Folsom's death grows more interesting. Read the next chapter.

aroused until the infection has made considerable headway and perhaps spread to neighboring flocks through the interchange of birds.

"The losses in poultry from tuberculosis amounts to thousands of dollars annually. They are not only confined to the diseased birds, but also to decreased egg and meat production. Furthermore, such a flock serves as a source of infection for healthy birds, as well as swine and cattle."

"Birds under one year of age usually do not show recognizable symptoms, as tuberculosis is a slowly developing disease and does not cause death until after the germs have been active in the body for several months. The length of time between the appearance of the first symptoms and death varies with the resistance of individual birds and the care given to them."

"So far as is known, no human being has ever contracted the avian form of tuberculosis. Furthermore, under natural conditions, fowls probably never contract tuberculosis from other domestic animals, or from man, even by eating material containing immense numbers of tubercle bacilli."

"It has recently been shown that swine may become infected with poultry tuberculosis. This disease in swine is of economic importance largely because all heads showing evidence of infection are condemned as unfit for food. It is estimated that it costs the pork packer 50 cents for every hog's head condemned."

"While all the symptoms of tuberculosis may be exhibited by a given bird, such a case is rare. Accordingly, whenever a bird becomes lame, or shows any of the other symptoms mentioned, tuberculosis should be suspected."

"Some diseased fowls will fail to go lame, or fail to show other noticeable symptoms, and die without having attracted the attention of the caretaker. Furthermore, the character of the symptoms is so indefinite that they cannot be relied upon with any degree of certainty. Therefore, to determine whether tuberculosis exists in a flock, it will be necessary to examine the carcass of a fowl which has died, or to kill a sick fowl and make a careful postmortem examination for lesions of the disease."

This Great Healing Oil Must Banish Eczema and Skin Troubles

Or Your Money Back. That's the Plan on Which Emerald Oil is Sold by Voigt's Drug Store, Schlitz Bros. Co. and All Good Druggists

Make up your mind today that you are going to give your skin a real chance to get well.

You've probably been, like a lot of other people, convinced that the only thing to use was an ointment or salve (some of them are very good) but in the big majority of cases these sticky salves simply clog the pores and the condition primarily remains the same. Go to Voigt's Drug Store, Schlitz Bros. Co. or any other good druggist today and get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil. The very first application will give you relief and a few short treatments will thoroughly convince you that by sticking faithfully to it for a short while your skin troubles will be a thing of the past.

Don't expect a single bottle to do it all at once but one bottle we know will show you beyond all question that you have at least discovered one way to restore your skin to perfect health.

Remember that Moone's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue and that it must give complete satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded.

Democracy in Business

Democracy in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a fact—not a theory. This Company is organized on democratic principles and it is governed by a democratic spirit.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a corporation in no way related to any other company of like name. It is owned by 50,667 people. No one of the 50,667 owns as much as 54% of the business.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is truly a Company—a company of individuals of varied capacity and varied interests, bound together by a common loyalty.

The thousands of stockholders who own the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) belong to no particular place or creed or station in life. You will find them in every state, in every county, in every city, in rural sections and in small towns throughout the Middle West.

The records of our stock books show among the stockholders of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are men and women of various races and religions and professions. Every income group is represented.

Wage-earners, store-owners, salaried women, farmers, individuals of moderate means, own the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The widow who must provide for the future of her children finds Standard Oil Company (Indiana) stock a safe and secure investment.

The working man who is industriously building up his small fortune invests his money in Standard Oil Company (Indiana) stock, confident that his investment will earn for him a reasonable return.

15,325 of the 29,573 employees of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are also owners of the Company, acquiring their stock by the generous terms of the Employees' Stock Purchasing Plans.

A substantial part of the capital behind the vast business of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) represents the hard-earned savings of thousands of individuals. The "capitalists" who furnish it are a large and democratic group.

A democratic spirit prevails throughout the organization of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). Opportunity for advancement is limited only by the ability and industrious effort of the individual.

Men holding the highest positions in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) have worked their way up from such humble jobs as office boy and machinist's helper.

All men have equal chances in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and the democratic spirit acts as an incentive to sustained effort and efficiency.

Finally, and most important, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is democratic in its purpose. To serve faithfully and well the poor and the rich, the inhabitants of great cities and those who live in far-off country places—to serve all the thirty million people of the Middle West with the very highest efficiency and skill is the unwavering purpose of the

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The mighty Smoke Man laughed to see the Tinies, cheerful as could be, a - hopping through the smoke rings that he'd blown out through the air. As some rings faded out of place, he'd whirl some others into space, and then he made a string of smoke that looked just like a stair.

SAINT AND SINNER

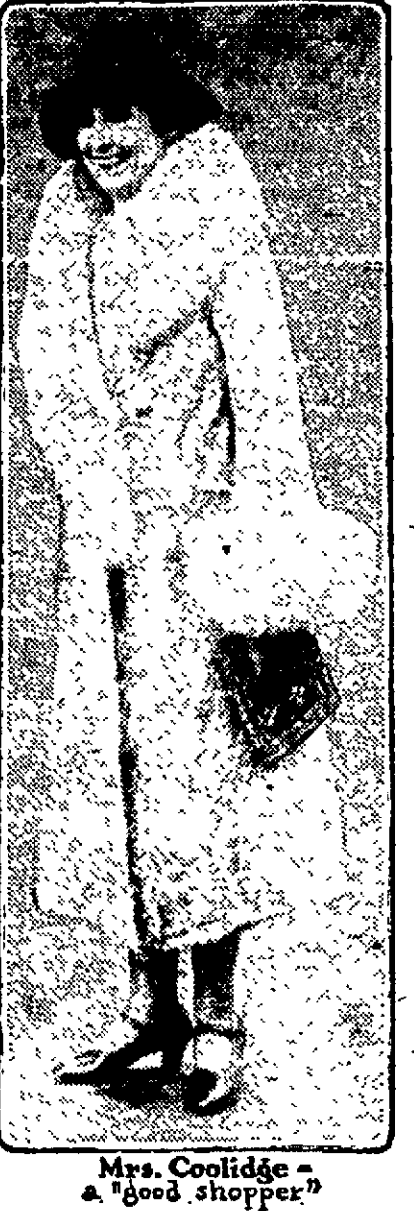

By Anne Austin

The mysterious letter, copied from the original in Bob Hathaway's neat, small handwriting, like copperplate engraving, was brief and ominous: "I'll be out of this hell soon, Cluny, and you've got to make restitution. Ten years of hell from which you might have saved me if you had not lain down on the job. Defend me! Our new Spring and Summer Fashion & Dressmaking Book is ready. Send 10 cents for your copy."

FOR STOUT WOMEN A slenderizing line for stout women is the surprise closing of the blouse, sometimes edged with shallow scalloped edges.

FASHION HINTS

PAISLEY PRINTS Paisley patterns printed in authentic colors are to be used in cotton fabrics for spring.

SMALL BAGS

Bags for evening are small and square, and often of black satin or velvet.

CIRE LACE

Black cire lace and eye ribbon are used with chiffon in afternoon frocks.

VOILE PREFERRED

Among summer fabrics, voile stands foremost. It is often heavily embroidered in bright-colored borders.

RUBBER SANDALS

Rubber sandals to match colored raincoats are the latest thing in wet-weather wear.

NATURAL STRAWS

The natural tones of straw are to be very smart for spring hats. Trimmings are chiefly navy blue, tail ribbons and narrow black bands.

CIRCULAR SKIRTS

A number of circular skirts are being used in gowns for evening wear. The materials may be finely ruffled lace, net or tulle.

NEW COLORS

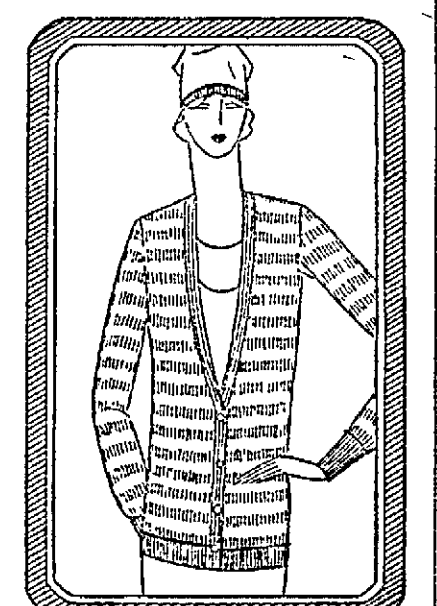

Quick blues and greens, to first in favor for day time wear. For evening, black and the rose shades of red are most popular.

LONG ROPES OF PEARLS

Long ropes of heavy pearl beads are being used with dark afternoon tops.

HAIRPINS HAVE INNING AS BOBS GROW IN AGAIN

You can't tell the cook from the lady of the house these days because they both wear an identical haircut. In other words, bobbed hair has certainly lost all distinction and refinement.

No one can say positively that bobbed hair is going out of fashion at present. Hairdressers contend that they are still turning long haired maids into short haired flappers. But they admit that hundreds of short haired women are letting their hair grow long again. Thus the percentage keeps about even.

LONG HAIR AGAIN

We find that at least two out of five of our short haired acquaintances are letting their hair grow. Most of them are in the advanced stage at present and it is necessary to resort to hair nets, hair pins and the glue pot.

Women's Hygienic Worries

Ended by new way—Discards like tissue

By ELEAN J. BUCKLAND Registered Nurse

THANKS to modern scientific findings, women are now almost entirely relieved of old hygienic worries by a new way called Kotex.

You discard Kotex easily as tissue. Which ends laundry and disposal problems completely.

You wear sheer frocks and gowns, dance, motor, go about for hours without a moment's fear—for this way is 5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton "pads."

Also, it deodorizes—ending all fear of offense.

You can obtain it at any store, without embarrassment, simply by saying "KOTEX." Box of 12 costs only a few cents.

Obtain today. Once you try it, you'll never again risk old ways. Be sure you get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

Local Girl Elected Head Of Y.W.C.A.

Miss Miriam Russell of Appleton, was elected president of the Y. W. C. A. of Lawrence college at the annual colonial banquet of the organization at First Methodist church Tuesday evening. The vice president is Miss Edith Reeve of Appleton; secretary, Miss Marjorie Lockard of Odessa; treasurer, Miss Mary Lou Wrasse of Marinette.

The four best loved girls in the senior class decided by a vote of all girls in the school appeared in colonial costumes. Miss Helen Diderich and Miss Mary Reeve of Appleton, were in the group and others were Miss Anna Marie Woodward of De Pere, and Miss Agnes Norem of Antigo. The girls were selected last week but were not announced until the banquet. They were dressed as George and Martha Washington and James and Dolly Madison.

Students leadership in Y. W. C. A. work at Lawrence has progressed during the past year, it was shown in the annual report read at the meeting. Fewer faculty advisors have worked and more students have taken active part and worked in independent fields. Several discussion groups were organized to talk about topics of special interest to the girls rather than large meetings of all members when some older person gave an address.

Miss Mary Reeve of Appleton, president of the association for the past year, was toastmistress at the banquet. Toasts were given by Miss Twyla Layton, dean of Women, Miss Ellen Stuart of Waupun and Miss Agnes Norem. About 220 girls attended the banquet.

Kathleen Mary Quinlan is one of the reasons why the British stage is noted for beauty. In private life she is Alyce Picard, and is a daughter of the assistant commissioner for Canada.

PARENTS AND CHILDREN ARE DRIFTING APART

Relations between parents and children are not close enough today, the Rev. Phillip Lange, pastor of Hope Lutheran church in Milwaukee, said in an address on Companionship at Mount Olive Lutheran church Tuesday evening. The lecture, sponsored by the Olive branch of the Senior Walther league of the church, was attended by about 175 persons.

Parents of the present generation often do not know where their children are, and the children are as ignorant of the whereabouts of the parents, the lecturer said.

He has done missionary work in Milwaukee and has visited the homes of many people in the city. Conditions are not encouraging in the home of today, he believed.

Mrs. Lange is well known as a lecturer in the state, is a pianist of ability, and has written church hymns and other musical compositions. He played several numbers at the close of the service Tuesday night. His talk was based on the evils of bad and the benefits of good companionship.

BOWLING LEAGUES WILL MEET WEDNESDAY NIGHT

The First English Lutheran church bowling league will entertain the Grace Lutheran brotherhood bowlers Wednesday night. A match in which three teams of each league will participate, will be rolled at the Elk alleys. Each league has won a match this winter. The entertainment will be shifted to the First English Lutheran church rooms after the bowling match.

CITY WILL START
WORK EARLY TO PUT
PARKS IN CONDITIONMayor Thinks Council Will Take Over Care of Railroad
Property

Kaukauna—Work on the city parks will start early in the spring this year, Mayor W. C. Sullivan said Tuesday. Every park in the city will be cleaned up and leveled. The mayor thought the city would take charge of the park in front of the south side depot and see that it is kept in shape.

The property belongs to the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad company and during the past few years it has been neglected. Weeds have been allowed to grow and the grass sometimes wasn't cut for months at a time, making the park an eye sore in the south side business district. Mayor Sullivan believes the city council will take action to have the south side street department take care of the park and perhaps place a few benches in it and keep the trees trimmed. Properly cared for, Mayor Sullivan said, the park would add to the beauty of the business district.

The newly purchased Klein's park in the Third ward also will be fixed up. A crew will level the ground, cut the grass and set up benches. It is a hope of the mayor that two are lights will be installed in the park near to the river bank so that people may remain in the park in the evening. A part of the park will be converted into a playground for the children. A baseball diamond will be laid out.

CECILIAN BAND TO GIVE ANNIVERSARY
PROGRAM MONDAYKimberly Organization Was Started in 1910—Directed by Prof. Heynen

Special to Post-Crescent
Kimberly—The Kimberly Cecilia band, one of the leading organizations of its kind in the Fox River valley will give an anniversary concert at the Kimberly clubhouse at 7:30 next Monday evening. There will be no admittance charge. A splendid program has been prepared by the band and it is expected to draw a large crowd. The band now has 40 members. Rehearsals at homes of members and at the Kimberly-Clark dining hall and Laegendeck's hall. Concerts were held now and then at the Kimberly park, but the attendance was discouragingly small.

After six months Mr. Groen resigned as director because of ill health, and Jacob Van Daalwyka was elected director.

INCORPORATED IN 1915
In December, 1915, the band was incorporated as the Kimberly Cecilia band. It had 18 members at that time. About that time Mr. Van Daalwyka resigned as director, and Anthony Van Hilgenberg succeeded him. The organization became more prosperous playing at numerous functions and giving many concerts at Kimberly.

In 1920 the band had increased to a membership of 21, and Prof. J. Heynen of Larson Conservatory of Green Bay was engaged as director. Prof. Heynen directed the band for five years when Anthony Van Hilgenberg, assistant conductor was made director. Since the death of Mr. Van Hilgenberg in 1926, Prof. Heynen has again been in charge. Rehearsals are conducted every Thursday evening. Attendance at these rehearsals is excellent and seldom are any of the members absent. Much of the success of the band is due to Rev. E. X. Van Nisteroy, president, and Prof. Heynen, conductor.

Offers a Booklet of Brick Home Plans.

How much rent do you pay?
Did you ever figure out how much this amounts to in five years or ten years? Take paper and pencil and work out the amount. It will surprise you. It would go far toward paying for your home.

So why not stop putting your rent money in someone else's pocket and build a home of your own?

The first step is to decide on plans and in this we are ready to help. Our Washington Information Bureau has a booklet showing exterior views and floor plans of 60 brick houses that are masterpieces of the architect's skill.

Send for your copy of this valuable booklet today. Enclose four cents in stamps for postage and handling cost.

Night Coughs
Stopped in 15 Minutes

Almost always coughing is caused by an irritated and inflamed throat or bronchial tubes, which cough syrups and patent medicines do not touch. But a famous physician's prescription recently discovered called Thoxino goes direct to the cause, stops the inflamed membranes and stops the cough almost instantly, one swallow does the work and the remarkable thing about it is that it contains no dope, chloroform or harmful drugs. Once used you will never be without it. Pleasant taste. Safe for children. 35c, 60c and $1.00. Sold by Volgi's and all good drug stores.

CHAMBER OPPOSES INSURANCE BILL FOR AUTOMOBILES

Measure Would Not Decrease Accidents, National Organization Holds

Opposition to the Gehrmann bill, H. R. 21, proposing compulsory automobile insurance, which has been introduced in the Wisconsin legislature, is expressed by the national chamber of commerce at Washington, D. C., in a letter to the local chamber.

The letter stated that the insurance advisory committee of the national chamber investigated the subject of compulsory automobile insurance and adopted a resolution opposing the principal at the fourteenth annual meeting in May, 1926. A copy of a pamphlet covering chamber's investigation has been sent with the letter and more will be furnished on request.

The bill provides that no motor vehicles shall be registered except with voucher by insurance company showing liability and property damage policy for at least $5,000 against loss as a result of any accident causing injury or death of one person and $10,000 on account of any one accident causing injury or death of more than one person. It would also require property damage protection to the extent of $1,000 as a result of any one accident. The applicant for registration may file a sworn statement of unencumbered property over $10,000 above that exempt from execution, the voucher form to be prescribed by insurance commissioner.

The resolution of the national chamber committee follows: "The Wisconsin compulsory insurance has in some quarters been advocated for the owner of an automobile. A careful study of these proposals fails to disclose reasons to believe that, if adopted, they will reduce accidents. For that reason, and for other reasons appearing in the report before this meeting, we oppose the principles of compulsory automobile insurance and advocate efforts which are calculated to increase the safety of our streets."

"Y" DELEGATES WILL ATTEND TENNIS MEET

SENIORS LEADING IN SPIRIT CUP HONORS

Seniors at Appleton high school led in the school spirit cup race for the first semester with 44 points, the faculty committee headed by Miss Minnie Smith announced recently. The juniors were second with 38 points and the sophomores last with 31 points. A second tallying will be made late in the spring and the class in the lead will be given the cup.

Activities in which the seniors lead were: glee club, orchestra, literary efforts, boys' athletics, banking average standings, Tailman subscriptions public speaking, least number of unexcused permits, least amount of tardiness and least failures. Juniors lead in honor roll students, band, least opening of lockers by locker boys because keys had been lost or locks broken, sponsoring football games and attendance at the West Green Bay basketball game. The faculty voted the junior class as having the best attitude and spirit of co-operation. Few absences and the best attitude during the general assembly meeting when the cases were presented Feb. 4 for the school spirit cup were the first awards of the sophomores.

Spring Dresses To Have Long Sleeves, Much Color

Madison—(P)—Long sleeves and full dresses with an abundance of color "subtle and dainty" will characterize spring styles from Paris, Miss Boss Tyrrell of the home economics department at the University of Wisconsin said Monday night in a radio talk.

"The idea of March blowing us news straight from Paris," she said, "from the sands of the Riviera and Florida indicate, that spring styles will be more beguiling as to materials, color and styles than ever before."

Miss Tyrrell listed ten important features of the popular spring mode: "The slim or slender silhouette," she said, "is retained though varied in many ways from that of former seasons."

"Fullness is apparent in all skirts of dresses."

"The V neck is the most favored neck line followed by the round neck and a revival of the square neck is shown in many costumes and the high neck is therefore losing in favor. While in Paris last summer, I noticed the decided trend toward fullness in the skirt and the V neck. Sometimes this V neck line extends to the waist so that a vest of lace or of harmonizing materials is used. This type of neck line has a slenderizing effect, and therefore is becoming to some figures."

"The use of tucks, many of them; pleats and many of them also; gathers or shirring; applied bands of contrasting color or made from the wrong side of the material; horizontal lines, curved lines, slanting or diagonal lines, achieved either by cut or by applied bands as trimming; one or more of these are used in every costume."

"The use of yokes on many dresses and coats. The yoke effect may be only simulated or may be produced by the use of these applied bands and the line of the yoke invariably follows the line of the neck—either V, round or square. It can be said that the yoke we wear this season is truly a decorative one."

"The continued use of the bolero and jacket front, and the blouse effect."

"The renewed interest in belts which may be single or double, wide or narrow, girdled or sashed and frequently using bows and buckles. Bows or buckles often form the only note of added trimmings to a costume."

"Sleeves are invariably long, except in some of the three piece sack suits where the sleeves are usually short, but the short sleeve is being reinstated and will doubtless gain in favor in hot weather."

"The vogue of the suit is noticeable—either the short coat or the longline type of suit coat and the longline suit coat which makes an ensemble carried out in the costume idea is shown for the more dressy type of suit."

"The 'composé' theme in color combinations is perhaps the strongest single interest in the spring wardrobe. The 'composé' idea is a distinct achievement in color harmony. By the 'composé' theme is meant the use of two or more tones of the same color in the costume or 'composé' in monochrome effect as two or three shades of blue or brown, or the use of two or more different and related colors that are about equal in value as the use of blue, mauve and rose as bands, trimmings of either ribbon or silk applied on a blue or white background."

"Spring styles have never been so beautiful and so varied and never before have the efforts of the designers been more successful in combining the proper lines, colors and materials together in styles becoming to all types of figures. The prevailing style note still is one of slowness, of sleekness and compactness, with an effect of uncompromising simplicity, though the cut, design and fabric perhaps have never been more intricate."

RESUME PROBE INTO HIGHWAY COMMISSION

Madison—(P)—The legislative inquiry into the affairs of the state highway commission, especially as applied to the discharge of John T. Donaghy as chief engineer, will be resumed here Wednesday night after a four-day recess.

With two members of the commission, Dean F. E. Turneaure of the college of engineering and State geologist E. F. Dean, J. T. Donaghy, now commissioner, and the engineer-secretary of the commission, C. V. Weymouth, already having testified, this week is expected to bring the testimony of division engineers and possibly other members of the commission.

Senator Harry Southworth, chairman of the investigating committee, has not indicated who the next witnesses will be.

Some of the important witnesses who remain to be called are Commissioners George Studenmayer and Dwight Welch, Mr. Donaghy, Al C. STAGE And SCREEN

GOLF IS THEME OF "WEST OF BROADWAY"

A band of cowboys in Wyoming agree to form a regular he-man's golf and country club to the exclusion of women, and then a pretty young golfing instructor appears on the scene. That is the theme of Priscilla Dean's latest Metropolitan picture, "West of Broadway," which will have its premiere coming to Fischer's Appleton Theatre Friday and Saturday.

Because of her mannish dress she is mistaken for a young man and allowed to enter the club as an instructor. At a dinner in "his" honor, Priscilla reveals that she is a woman and then the trouble starts.

The founder of the club, an irascible woman hater (Arnold Gray) orders her out, but Priscilla challenges him to put her out and she remains. Meanwhile, a cattle rustler and his band of cutthroats view the golf-playing fad with delight, because the novelty, they found, takes the riders from their duties with the herds.

Priscilla, after many tilts with the woman-hater, makes him fall in love with her and then to torment him she flirts with the rustler. She sets out to trap the rustlers single-handed and she does, much to the astonishment of the woman-hater. Things adjust themselves nicely and at the end we find Priscilla in the woman-hater's arms and a big sign "Women Welcome" over the portals of the world's first exclusive golf and country club in the wild, wild West.

Arnold Gray, Majel Coleman and Walter Long are featured. Robert Thornby, maker of a score of thrill pictures, directed the production.

WONDERFUL CAST SEEN IN "THREE KEYS"

Presented with an all-star cast, headed by Edith Roberts, Jack Mulhall and Virginia Lee Corbin, "Three Keys," a mystery melodramatic story of high society will open at the New Bijou to-day for a two day run. The story tells of George Lathrop, a young millionaire (Gaston Glass) who is planning suicide, having lost his ample fortune. Just as he is about to take the fatal step, the father of his fiancée asks his assistance, not knowing, of course, that the younger man is financially "broke." Lathrop puts aside his plan and determines to help him, no matter what the cost.

By sheer chance his friend, Jack Mulhall (Jack Mulhall) entrusts him with the keys of the safe deposit vaults that contain the gilt-edged securities owned by him and his father, the veteran Wall Street operator, Sam Millington (Joseph Girard), who happens to be the man who is trying to "break" Lathrop's friend, John Trevor (Charles Gray).

How the plot is worked out forms a highly interesting story.

EXPECT MANY FARMERS AT NEXT STOCK FAIR

Several hundred farmers are expected to attend the monthly stock fair at the Stock Fair grounds on S. Walnut-st next Saturday. Mild weather of the past two weeks has improved most roads in the county and it is thought that farmers will be able to get into the city from almost any direction.

Since there has been no opportunity for farmers to dispose of their stock for several months, it is expected that a large number will attend the fair Saturday. Roads in practically every part of the state are open and buyers are expected to attend from many cities in southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois. Merchants in the west end are arranging special bargains for farmers.

ZWICK OUTPOINTS TOUGH FILIPINO IN WINDUP BATTLE

Kaukauna Fighter Adds Aguinaldo To Long List Of Victims Of Mitfests

Appleton Boys Also Win as Large Crowd Sees "Best Local Card"

POST-CRESCENT DECISIONS
Phil Zwick, Kaukauna, outpointed Snake Aguinaldo, Philippines, in ten rounds.

Jack Heineman, Milwaukee, knocked out Billy Murray, Oshkosh, in the second round.

Mike Merkle, Appleton, shaded Tony Grayjack, Milwaukee, in four rounds.

Mickey Mack, Appleton, and Earl Rogers, Appleton, fought a four-round draw.

Dick Boys, Appleton, scored a technical knockout over Kid Kelly, Oshkosh.

It was a big night for Kaukauna Tuesday evening at Armory G, for Phil Zwick came home to show his former fellow townsmen just what had earned him his great reputation as a fighter in Florida and Ohio and he did a good job, outpointing a tough batter from the Philippines, Snake Aguinaldo, practically the entire 10 rounds of their windup bout, though the little brown boy refused to be felled.

It was a big night for Appleton for two local scrappers defeated their opponents and in a third scrap a pair of Appleton boys battled to a draw. It was a big night for the Appleton Athletic club in its attempt to put boxing on its feet once more in Appleton, not so much because of a crowd that packed the building to capacity, but more so because every bout on the card from start to finish was a whirlwind that pleased the crowd, every one a hard fight with a little stalling, as good an all-around card as has ever been produced here in the opinion of the fight fans, who were predicting a slump as each battle started because of the class of the past ones, but who were doomed to a pleasant disappointment. There were two knockouts in five bouts.

Zwick opened the main bout with a drive of whirlwind battling which earned him the first two rounds, but the Filipino came back strong in the third to win his only period by a slight shade. The Kaukauna fighter took all the rest, though some were by shades. The men started slowly in the opening round, but Zwick was throwing plenty of gloves at his rival. The men employed two styles of battling, a long range punching at which Zwick excelled and a type of low head-to-head infighting at which the Snake had the edge though Phil's arm and glove kicking showed to good advantage in this work.

Zwick's right was working to perfection and he used it with telling effect on the Filipino, switching from his rival's head to his mouth, which soon was highly swollen, and then to his stomach. The infighting Zwick attempted to tire the brown boy by forcing him (Aguinaldo) to pound on his (Zwick's) head and arms to use up his strength. The Kava boy also seemed to be working for a good stomach opening. However, the Filipino was a tough boy, taking his pounding and coming up for more and more and it will be a terrific puncher who will floor him. Zwick's best blow was to hold his foe off with his long left and then plant a hard right to side of the head with telling effect.

At times the Filipino had Zwick missing the scheduled six rounds but it told on him in the second when he was easy prey for Heineman. Heineman started the victory with a short jab to the side of Murray's head which jarred him and sent him down for the count of nine. Murray took another two into the ropes and then Heinemann ended the bout by slapping two to the Oshkosh boys face and a third to his wind which folded him up completely. He hit the mat groaning and was out for keeps.

Mike Merkle, Appleton Greek, exhibited a style all his own, a dashing, whirlwind, unafraid attack, to shade

ORANGE, BAYMEN TO FURNISH BIG GAME

FRIDAY GAMES
APPLETON AT W. GREEN BAY.
Fond du Lac at Oshkosh.
E. Green Bay at Sheboygan.
Manitowoc at Marinette.

Captain Joseph Shield's Orange Appleton high cagers, tied for second in the Valley conference, play the only real important game of the week Friday evening when they invade Green Bay to do battle with West high's third-place team. Marinette should be easy for Manitowoc, sharer of second place and East is expected to be an easy victim of Sheboygan. Fond's loop leaders are favored over Oshkosh though the game may be more even than the other two because of old rivalry, an Oshkosh floor and the return to form of Fause, Sawduster center.

Appleton was favored to beat West but since Laird is out the hopes of the Orange took a drop and the Purplemen and Herber are favorites at home. Herber loops long shots with ease on the home courts 'tis said. A loss for Appleton will eliminate the Orange in its drive for a tie for the 1927 conference title.

Paris—Jack Walker defeated Rene Devos, Belgium, European middleweight champion (9), "Spider" Fladner, flyweight champion of France, defeated Michel Montreuil (12).

Tony Grayjack, experienced Milwaukeean, by a shade. Merkle opened like a cyclone and only the many points he piled up in the first two rounds gave him a shade as in the final two rounds the more experienced batter held the local boy even and earned a slight shade on the final round when he had his less experienced foe missing and paving the air on several blows. In a longer fight Grayjack probably would have conquered. Grayjack worked hard on Merkle's nose in the final rounds and this bothered the Appleton boy.

Mickey Mack and Earl Rogers fought a draw in their fourth round fight, with the going being even in the first two rounds, the third going to Rogers by a shade and the final to Mack. Both boys were tired at the final gong and at one time Rogers seemed to be having a tough time weathering a storm of Mack's mites which shot in from all angles and it looked like a K. O. but the Irishman failed to follow his advantages to any great degree. Rogers blocked well with his elbows and arms and gloves on many of Mickey's hardest blows.

A comeback that was a comeback was staged by Dick Boys, Appleton's fighting taxman, in the opening four rounds. Showing fine condition after three years out of the ring, Dick knocked out Kid Kelly of Oshkosh in the second round, scoring a technical K. O. He was waved to his corner by Referee Jaeger, who even refused to count Kelly out, he was so far gone. Boys showed a speedy left which he whipped to the body and face with plenty of power to take the first round. Soon after the start of the second round Boys went down when he slipped and then he shot about a half dozen hard rights and lefts to Kelly's jaw ending with a right square on the button which put Kelly down for nine. He followed with another right to Kelly's head and the Oshkosh batter dropped to the rosin, completely done for, as Referee Jaeger awarded Boys the battle, just about a minute and a half after the round opened.

Helen Wills Would Star On Links, Women Claim

BY JIMMY POWERS

New York—Helen Wills—our future Joyce Wethered.

Can you picture the sturdy little Miss Poker-Face, now a sturdier young woman, getting all the power of her wrists into a sizzling two-hundred-yard drive?

Can you picture those well-muscled forearms and shoulders clicking off full irons to the pin?

Can you see the same dogged, plugging determination that carried a young lass into an international tennis final, overcoming equally trying obstacles in golf final?

No? Well, there are two feminine experts who can.

They are Glenna Collett and Mary K. Browne.

Furthermore, they are going to try to make a golf player out of our Helen.

"I think Helen Wills is a potential golf champion, one who has everything a crack woman player ought to have, and I think she can be induced to take the game up seriously," says Mary K.

"She is methodical, rugged, blessed with a powerful physique. She has a golfer's instinctive form and the balance that goes with a champion's game. She is a worker and under expert tutelage can be developed into a headliner."

Mary K. Browne ought to know whereof she speaks. She had the usual distinction of being a tennis finalist and golf finalist in the same year (1924). She insists the two games do not conflict. She finished her tennis and with only ten days' practice with her golf clubs went out and beat Glenna Collett to gain her way to the national fairway finals, where she succumbed by a close margin.

"Helen is better fitted for golf than she is for tennis," chimes in Glenna. "Tennis requires quick thinking, quick acting, and lightning speed. Helen is methodical, steady and sure. I am surprised she has not taken up golf. She is better adapted naturally to the fairway and green than the clay courts."

Tennis versus golf. They do not collide, both stars insist. Essentially all sports are the same when it comes to form and balance.

Suzanne Lenglen, for instance, is admirably fitted for tennis. She has marvelous speed, is much faster about Helen Wills. She is temperamental, quick to react, has a world of intuition, and is a fluttering sort of butterfly compared to the slower, surer player known as Miss Poker-Face, so the two ladies point out.

Golf requires concentration, grit, unerring adherence to form and wags on loads of work. Helen seems made to order for that.

"She could be another Joyce Wethered," says Mary K.

"You're right," agrees Glenna. So there you are.

APPLETON ATHLETE CHOSEN CAPTAIN OF ARMY HOOPMEN

J. S. "STEVE" MILLS

The highest athletic honor which has come to a product of Appleton and Appleton high school for some time, was achieved this week by John Stewart, "Steve" Mills, son of Dr. and Mrs. X. P. Mills, E. Lawrence-st. The local boy, a regular forward on the Army basketball team for the last two years, including 1927, was elected captain of the 1928 squad by his mates and will lead the West Point cagers next winter. He was one of the leading point scorers in the soldier team this year and one of the leading forwards of the east. In a recent game against Yale this basket in the final seconds won the game for the Army team and he has averaged three baskets a game most of the year. Mills graduated from Appleton high in 1923 where he had played two years of football and three of basketball. He played on the Lawrence frosh grid and cage teams the next year and was also on the varsity cage squad when he became eligible at the semester. The next year he went to West Point where his achievements beside basketball include playing on the school champion lacrosse team, class offices and chairman of several important school social events.

ASHMAN PLAYS IN FLORIDA CAGE GAME

Local Boy Leads Miami Against Florida; Hurricanes Miss Courtney

Coral Gables, Fla. — North and South Florida will open inter-collegiate athletic relations for the first time here Wednesday evening when the University of Miami Hurricanes and University of Florida clash on the basketball court. The two schools will also compete Thursday night in boxing.

University of Miami was opened here last October, but it was impossible for a football game between the schools. The Hurricanes, undefeated at football and beaten only once at basketball, have met every other school in Florida in both sports. Coach Art Webb, formerly of Syracuse is concentrating his practice work on preparation for the Florida game. It is expected here that he will present several new men in the line-up. For the past two weeks he has had trouble in filling a forward guard and at this time the other forward is weak. His guards however, Hal Oram, of Pittsburgh, and Johnny McGuire, of Indianapolis, are certain of their positions, as is Capt. Rod Ashman, center, of Appleton, Wis.

M'GRAW THINKS HE GOT BEST OF TRADE

Giant Outfield Needs Roush, While Terry Can Replace Kelly

New York—George Kelly of the New York Giants for Ed Roush of the Cincinnati Reds. It's the biggest trade of the winter, the Hornshy-Frisch deal expected.

Who got the better of the trade? John McGraw, because he is sure Roush will be more valuable than Kelly to the Giants, believes New York got the edge. McGraw's outfield is a break, while in Bill Terry, he has a capable understudy at first for Kelly.

Cincinnati fans are of the opinion that Roush has passed the peak of his game. McGraw thinks the change to New York scenery will rejuvenate the play of Roush, who was once the property of the Giants.

Kelly is the more versatile player of the two. While not as good a batsman as Roush, he is mighty dangerous. During the 1924 world series against Washington, Kelly played first base, second base and outfield for New York in all three positions.

Both Kelly and Roush are still highly capable performers and should strengthen both clubs. It looks like a 50-50 proposition.

Albany, N. Y.—Jack Warren, Chicago, defeated Italian Jack Herman, Tonkers (12).

BADGERS FIGHT WAY TO TOP IN BIG TEN

Trip Iowa Quint 24-21, in Tough Game as Buckeyes Whip Indiana

Madison—(P)—Iowa topped into the second division in the Big Ten basketball race when the Hawkeyes bowed to Wisconsin, 24 to 21, here Tuesday night. The game was close all the way with only two or three points separating the teams. The score at the half was 13 to 9 in favor of the Badgers.

Chicago—(P)—The Big Ten basketball standings are all "at sixes and at sevens" again Wednesday as a result of the three games played Tuesday night.

Indiana lost its leadership by the unexpected smart showing of Ohio State, the Buckeyes winning handily, 27-15. It was the second time in less than a week that the Columbus team has been poised to a conference leader. Wisconsin having been forced from a top place to last Saturday by Ohio State, Wisconsin, however, came back into the lead with Michigan for the lead by winning a close game from Iowa 24-21.

That result dropped Iowa which had been in a four-way tie with Wisconsin, Michigan and Purdue, down below the middle of the list of ten teams.

Michigan wrote the high score of the season in beating Chicago 61-25 at Ann Arbor. Oosterbaan made seven field goals and three free throws for 17 points.

As a result of the night's play four teams changed positions. Michigan and Wisconsin moved from second place to a first-place tie.

Purdue, idle remained alone in second place, with a chance to join the Badgers and Wolverines at the top by beating Northwestern Wednesday night. Iowa went from second place to sixth, while Indiana dropped from first to a tie with Illinois for third place.

Neither Ohio State's victory nor Chicago's defeat changed the relative positions of these teams. The Ohio team holds seventh place with five victories and five defeats. Chicago follows with three victories and six losses. Minnesota and Northwestern are far behind, Minnesota with one game won out of ten starts, and Northwestern with no victories at all.

CADDY MASTER WHIPS GOLF STARS IN MEET

Clearwater, Fla. —(P)—William Burke of Danville, Ky., youthful caddy master at Clearwater county club is champion golfer of Florida.

Burke ran a 50-foot putt to the lip of the cup on the eighteenth green Tuesday and Bobby Cruikshank and "Wild Bill" Mehlhorn, who had crept to within two strokes of his medal score in the two days play, smilingly conceded the boy the Florida Open title. It carried $1,000 as first prize. The winner's card of 228, shot by Mount Vernon, Iowa — Carleton, as the only undefeated entry, holds sole claim to the Midwest leadership by virtue of giving Cornell, still a contender from second place, her first conference defeat. The final battles of a long campaign for the championship will be commenced this week as Carleton meets Hamline on Tuesday and invades Iowa to meet Coe, threatening from a strong third place, on Saturday and Cornell the first of next week. These two games, with the finale between Cornell and Coe at Cedar Rapids on March 5, should settle the championship.

To win championship, Carleton must win her remaining three games and Cornell the two left, while Coe's chances depend upon victories over both her leaders: with Cornell defeating Carleton.

In last week's maneuvers, Cornell walloped Lawrence and lost to Carleton and Coe triumphed over Lawrence. Ripon did the conventional act in availing Beloit her eleventh defeat and Monmouth won from Knox. The following games will be played this week: Monday, Coe at Beloit; Tuesday, Hamline at Carleton; Friday, Knox at Beloit; Ripon at Lawrence; Saturday, Carleton at Coe, Knox at Ripon.

ILLINOIS GRIDDERS IN SPRING PRACTICE

Urbana, Ill.—Ideal football weather has made it possible for Coach Bob Zupke, of the University of Illinois, to scrimmage his spring football squad of men out on the practice field. Every day this week the squad has had two hours of hard scrimmage as Zupke desires to take advantage of the weather and get in as much scrimmage as possible. Previous to the warm, spell practices was held in the East end of the Memorial Stadium in which the space is limited and no kicking practice can be held.

The call for candidates was issued on Feb. 8 and was answered by approximately 170 men. Letter men reporting "for practice" are Captain Reiche, Novack, Stuessy, Grable, Mariner, and Perkins. Six lettermen will be lost to the team because of graduation. They are Caplin, Kassel, Daugherty, Gallivan, Green, Shively, and Wilson. "Bernie" Shively is the All-American guard of 1926 and will be greatly missed by Zupke.

Hot Springs, Ark.—Eddie Ketchell, of Toledo, won a newspaper decision over Kid Lewis of Hartford, Conn. (10).

Des Moines, Ia.—Buddy McDonald, St. Paul, defeated Riddie Frolk (10).

Kenneth Hunt, Des Moines, beat Buster Brown, Chicago (8).

Unleashing a great attack in the final eight minutes of play with the score 21 to 12 against them, Marquette university cagers, tripped Coach George Christoph's Lawrence college quint Tuesday evening at Milwaukee by a score of 24-22, in an overtime battle. The Golden Avalanche scored 10 points in the final few minutes while holding the Blues to a single free try to tie the count and in the overtime won by a basket. It was Lawrence's sixth straight defeat of the year and its second loss by two points in overtime games, losing 10 to Ripon at Ripon earlier in the month by the amount.

Razner and Dostaler starred for Marquette, the latter sinking the winning bucket in the extra play. Razner scored two baskets, and four free tries and Dostaler one and four. Heideemann lead the Blue attack with four baskets and a free throw and Ervin and Clark got a basket and three free tries each.

From a listless beginning that ran well into the second half, the game suddenly became a throbbing contest with a garrison finish that would do credit to the best of five reel thrillers. Nine points behind, 21 to 12, and the second half well along, some new blood in the Hilltop lineup suffused the players with additional life and Lawrence was overhauled at 22-21 a minute or so before the final gun.

The rally was started by Connie Dunn, who scored on a short shot, and Razner added two more with a pair of grade shots when fouled by Heideemann. Dunn's fourth personal was on Briese and the latter made the point. Clancy came in, but before he could count on an out-of-bounds play under the board, Dostaler sank three free throws on being fouled by Hillman and Dunn. Clancy's bucket left Marquette trailing by one point, 21 to 22.

Hillman fouled Schumacher, who had replaced Padden, and the Hilltop guard dropped in his point. Heideemann muffed a free throw that would have given Lawrence the game and Dostaler was so affected by the generosity that he miscued on one just at the gun.

The business of winding the affair up started in earnest in the overtime chapter and both teams played a steady barrage of basketballs in the general direction of the board. With less than five seconds to go, Dostaler worked loose under the hoop and rolled in the decisive basket.

The first half was a parade from one free throw line to the other, both outfits counting 8 apiece. Clancy fielded goals. Three field goals Lawrence against one for Marquette gave the visitors a 13 to 8 advantage at the intermission. Heideemann's accurate eye gave the Vikings their commanding lead in the last half.

Both teams were terrible at basket shooting and it is hard to decide which erred the most in this respect. Marquette's better defense forced Lawrence to long range gunning which wouldn't have been so bad had the Vikings taken a moment to get themselves before the attempt rather than banging away on the dead run.

Briese was the outstanding star of the game by his fine floor play, and he was given good support by Heideemann and Clark, a pair of jack rabbit forwards. Floyd Razner looked best for the Hilltops with Dunn and Padden sharing second honors. The Herte brothers, playing their last home game, did well, and Dostaler's advantage on the tipoff helped the winners no little.

KIMBERLY CAGERS WIN EASY BATTLE FROM PLYMOUTHMEN

Athletics Keep in Running for State Loop Flag by 43-10
Triumph

Kimberly—The K. C. Athletics had an easy time taking the fast Plymouth State League team into camp for a 43-10 win Tuesday evening at the Clubhouse. The win gave Kimberly a tie for second place in the league and a good chance for league honors.

Boettcher, K. C. forward, cased the first basket followed by Scheurle and Koll with one apiece while Nefzger and Elliot got one each for Plymouth so that the first period ended 6-4 in Kimberly's favor. A basket by Schieb in the first part of the second chapter tied the score.

Williams broke it by a free throw for the Athletics. Elliot sunk another basket which gave Plymouth a one point lead which turned in the Athletics' favor when Scheurle and Koll dropped in a basket apiece. The score stood 11-8 at the half.

After the first half Kimberly held the visitors well in check and allowed them only one basket while adding 22 points to its score. The Athletics led 19-8 at the close of the third quarter and went even better in the last period, scoring twenty-four points.

Every member of the K. C. squad broke into the count column with at least one basket. Koll, with eight baskets, was the outstanding performer followed by Scheurle with five, Williams with three and three free throws, Cooke with two and Boettcher and Courchane with one each. Elliot and Schieb got two baskets apiece and Nefzger one for Plymouth.

Outside of the first-place Sheboygan Legion, Kimberly is the only State loop team to whip Plymouth this year. The game was marked by quarrels between the Plymouth team and the two Kimberly referees who were forced to act when Kubitz, regular league official for the game, failed to arrive.

LEFT ACE'S WIN
Lefty's Aces whipped the Bright Spots of Appleton by a 35-13 score in the preliminary. The Aces led 22-6 at the half. Le May starred for the Aces caging six baskets and Gossens was next highest with five and a free throw. Ellis got two baskets and two free throws and Shannon two baskets for the Bright Spots.

The lineup:
Lefty's Aces — Gossens, Courchane and Le May forwards; Du Pont center; and Gokey, Schwanke and Vandel Zanden guards.

Bright Spots—Shannon and Ellis forwards; Schmidt center and Minberg and Campshire guards.

APPLETON PINMEN MOVE DOWN AGAIN

Milwaukee Five Forces Hoppy Wieners to Fourth With 3,034 Mark

Racine—(P)—One change was registered in the team event of the state bowling tournament here Tuesday when the Bartles-Maguire Oils, of Milwaukee crashed their way through the maples for a count of 3034, just eight pins below the Klinger Bulcks of Watertown, to land in third in this event. The Oils started off with 372 total rose to 1073 in the second start and came right back with 959 to collect their third place total.

F. Grignow led the attack with a 639 count, crowding off 279 in the second start. The Hugin Bakers, Milwaukee, collected 2946 for, twelfth place. Bill Kruecke gathered 644.

Herman Koch, state all-events record holder, donated a meager 553 to the San Puro Cigar total of 2720 on the last shift last night.

Hein's alleys, Milwaukee, had a 2011 start going into the third game on the second shift last night but dropped to 889 and finished with 2903 to lead on that shift.

Tank Brothers, Kenosha, collected high total on the first team shift last night with 2801. Leaders in the doubles and singles divisions never had an uneasy moment Tuesday. Eddy Sixty and Charles Daw, Milwaukee, cracked the best total in the two-man event with 1264 to move into eighth place. H. Hoyer-H. Millen, Milwaukee, bungled 1239 for the second best total of the day.

In the singles division C. Schwab, also of Milwaukee was high on 658, scoring games of 212, 223 and 223 while Charley Daw, state match game champion biffed 649 on 201, 226 and 212. The next best scores were those of W. Simon, E. Tabor and A. Wolff, all of Milwaukee who tumbled 635, 635 and 628 respectively.

COMMITTEE WORKS TO FILL UNION BUILDING

Madison—(P)—The committee of forty appointed by President Glenn Frank of Wisconsin University to further the completion and occupancy of the new Memorial Union building, in its first meeting Monday, took the first steps toward administration of the student community center's affairs.

With the steel framework of the building all set, students are looking forward to completion of the building. President Frank telling the committee of forty that "the contractor has promised that by Christmas we shall have a building on our hands."

"The committee faces the job of filling it," he warned. The president then appointed a smaller committee out of the larger group, to act as an executive organization within.

To the larger committee was submitted a list of 30 specific questions under the general heads of financial maintenance, scheme of government, use of rooms, furnishings and decoration and functioning of the building. The most pressing problems, according to Prof. H. C. Bradley, chairman

PRIVATE MAIL PLANES FLY 2,174,772 MILES

Washington—(P)—Airplanes carrying mail under contract for the government flew 2,174,772 miles during 1926.

The figures, given out by the commerce department, do not include the mileage made by the post office department's own transcontinental service, which has not yet been transferred to commercial operators.

The flying was done on 13 different routes, the longest of which has Dallas and Chicago for its terminals. Nearly a half million miles were flown by the planes on this route. The next most used route, from Salt Lake to Los Angeles, ran up 393,324 miles of flying.

of the executive committee, are those of planning the financial maintenance of the union, and of providing a form of government which will make the Union a true community center for the university.

Weekly meetings will be held by the executive committee, and less frequent gatherings of the entire group.

Celebrating Our 10th Anniversary In The Shoe Business

Just about ten years ago, this week, J. R. Zickler started a small shoe repair shop on S. Walnut St. His repair work met with favor and he added an extra man. Later on another helper. Then gradually he added a stock of mens work shoes, then mens dress shoes, and finally ladies and childrens shoes. At the present time he has three men taking care of the shoe repair work and has the whole store and basement stocked with shoes and rubbers for the whole family.

To celebrate this steady progress and to show our appreciation of the confidence placed in us, we are going to promote our first sale and it will be very much worthwhile. Read the bargain news and then come in and buy. Our customers will tell you that our prices are ordinarily lower then the average. So this Sale means tremendous saving to everyone.

The Fun Shop

WE'LL KEEP YOU POSTED ABOUT IT, FOLKS! Of books to while away the time. The literary critic's spot. But one to smile away the time. THE FUN SHOP BOOK, will soon be out!

RICHARD, THE IRON-HEARTED! (Why I Never Married Him) By Hilda S. Hollaman I asked Dick out for dinner once. And said to him, "My lamb, I merely want to show you, once, how good a cook I am!"

"So you come out at half-past six—Poor batch, you must be lone-some!" And I'll lay out for you a meal Prepared all by my ownsome!" At six o'clock that fatal night I found I needed eggs. So I hurried off to the delicatessen on frantic legs.

You can imagine how the thing I saw there made me feel. The guy that I was cooking for, Eating a heavy meal!

YOU BET Mrs. Patten: "Do you have smocks?" Floorwalker: "Yes, lady. Cigars and cigarettes at the tobacco counter."

Julia T. Grunet. With the price of eatables rising and the value of the dollar sinking, the time is near at hand when "Dollars to Doughnuts" is an even bet!

QUICK SERVICE! A Department Store Renannt (Found by John R. Harris) Mandy: "Ah wants somethin' to put on mah stove."

Floorwalker: "Something in the line of utensils?" Mandy: "No, suh. Ah still got mine. The doctah said Ah should have dem excavated, but Ah still has dem."

Floorwalker: "Not tansils. Utensils. Kitchen paraphernalia." Mandy: "Mistah Boss. Ah wouldn't have a pan of phernalias around mah kitchen for a hundred dollars! No, suh. A pair of pickaninnies is enough. Ah wants somethin' to put on mah stove."

Floorwalker: "Well, just what is it you want? Be more explicit. You can put anything on a stove." Mandy: "No, suh. You can't put anything on a stove. No, suh. Mah husband he tried it once, an' he didn't sit down for two weeks. No, suh."

Floorwalker: "Do you want asbestos?" Mandy: "At's bestest what? You can say 'at's bestest kettel, or 'at's bestest fryin' pan, but when you all say 'at's bestest Ah don't versimilate the callorosity of yo' significations."

Floorwalker: "Asbestos is something that keeps fire out." Mandy: "Quit yo' foolin'! Ah buys me a stove to keep mah fish in, and mah yo' wants me to buy somethin' to keep mah fish out. Go along on youself! Ah got a bad enough time now tryin' to keep mah fish goin' without buyin' somethin' to keep it out. No, suh."

Floorwalker: "Do you want somethin' to cook in?"

Mandy: "No, suh. Ah cooks in mah keymono. Ah wants somethin' to put on mah stove. Stove polish is what Ah wants, suh. Flesh-culled stove polish."

Housewife: "Do be careful of my china, won't you?" Moving Man: "Don't worry, lady! If I broke one o' dese dishes it 'ud make me so mad I'd bust de whole set!"

CHARMED, I'M SURE! (That's What they'll Say, If You Keep in Touch with THE FUN SHOP Charm Shop)

Dear Mrs. Pillar: My husband's brother is coming to visit us. I don't know exactly how to act. Please help me out.

Mrs. Peter F. Davies. Dear Mrs. Davies: Treat him politely the first three days. After that, use your own judgement!

Dear Mrs. Pillar: How can I tell which piece of silverware to use? Richard Landauer.

Dear Dick: The easiest thing would be to write a successful play, wear a Windsor tie, and let your hair grow. Then if you pick up the wrong one everybody will think it's the eccentricity of genius.

Dear Mrs. Pillar: Last night when I helped my boy friend on with his coat he absent-mindedly gave me a dime. What shall I do about it?

Ellin Gifford. Dear Ellin: Absent-mindedly give it back to him next time he carries your bundles!

ONLY 21 DAYS before THE FUN SHOP BOOK comes out!

NO EASTER RECESS IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS FOR COMING SPRING

New London High School Classes Undertake to Work on Unit System

Special to Post-Crescent.
New London—There will be no Easter vacation for the students and teachers of New London public schools this year. Arrangements having been made for the graduation speaker and the date set for the various events at the end of the year, it has been definitely decided that school will continue to the end of May.

The classmate, the local high school annual, will go to the press about March 15 according to members of the editorial staff. Photographs have been taken and artists' contributions and other features are in readiness for final publication.

The unit system, advocated by well-known educators, is to be tried out in the local high school in the American history and geometry sections. The primary object of this method is that students may solve different problems in their own way by their abilities, proceeding in any chosen branches as fast as they wish without being delayed in progress by less brilliant students. The system involves the following steps: an inventory of the knowledge possessed by the student; a talk by the instructor upon the subject in hand; assimilation of the subject by the students, and recitation.

PROTECT WALKERS FROM MUD ON BRIDGE

Crews Clear New London Streets—Appleton Road Nearly in Normal Condition

Special to Post-Crescent.
New London—Splash boards, protecting pedestrians from showers of mud and water thrown from motors passing on the Shawano street bridge have been erected by the city street commission.

Street crews, during the thaws of the past few days have been plowing up the accumulation of ice and snow which has collected on the down town streets. Special attention is being given to clearing ice away from the drains. The thaw of Tuesday made inroads upon the ruts on city streets as well as on country roads.

According to Harvey Graupman, owner of the Inter-county bus line another day of thaw will bring the Appleton road into almost normal condition. There still are a few bad stretches where one must take rather deliberate choice of the variety of ruts and in a few places if one enters a rut which is being traveled by another motorist it is almost impossible to change ruts on the spur of the moment, said Mr. Graupman, but with warm weather and a cleansing rain motorists will be able to get almost anywhere they wish to go.

LIONS ENTERTAIN H. S. DEBATORS AT MEETING

Special to Post-Crescent.
New London—Members of the New London high school debate teams were guests at a dinner Tuesday night at the Elwood Hotel given by the New London Lions club. R. J. McMahon, superintendent of schools, and E. A. Lahr, instructor of public speaking, were also guests. After the dinner the teams put on a repetition of a debate on the question: "Resolved, That the constitution be so amended as to provide for an initiative and referendum as proposed by the 1925 state legislature." Members of the debate teams who attended were Alice Fellenz, Dorothy Gorges, James Mulroy, William Peacy, Otto Rosenkretz, Jean Deifel, Marcus Plant and Leo McNichols.

LEGION POST VOTES TO BUY DRUM CORPS OUTFITS

Special to Post-Crescent.
New London—The regular meeting of the Norris-Spencer post of the American legion was held Tuesday night at the legion club rooms. It was decided that new uniforms for the drum corps be purchased in time for Memorial day. A joint meeting of the auxiliary and the legion will be held Thursday night at which time the new national and auxiliary flags will be dedicated. Teachers of the New London schools will be guests.

NEW LONDON PERSONALS

KAREL ADDRESSES BANK STOCKHOLDERS

President of State Bankers Association Talks on Washington as Financier

Special to Post-Crescent.
New London—L. Albert Karel, president of the State Bankers Association, and president of the Wisconsin Bankers association, for 1926, was the principal speaker at the luncheon given Tuesday by the Bank of New London at Odd Fellows hall. Members of the Dorcas society of the Methodist church served the luncheon. About 75 stockholders and their wives were present.

F. W. Klaus gave the address of welcome and Thomas G. Roberts introduced Mr. Karel to the stockholders. Mr. Karel talked on "George Washington the Man and Financier," and on the duties and responsibilities of bank stockholders. He told of his own interest in a copy of Washington's diary in the court house at Keewaupee. Mr. Karel is a prominent figure among Wisconsin bank leaders.

Community singing was led by Mr. Spearbreaker. Miss Hildegarde Spierling played the accompaniment. The tables were decorated with cut flowers and plants and Japanese pictures were given the guests as favors. After the luncheon a movie was given at the Grand theatre to which farmers and stockholders were invited. About 1,000 persons attended.

NEW LONDON SOCIETY

Special to Post-Crescent.
New London—The ladies of the first group of the Catholic Woman's club entertained at one of a series of card parties for the benefit of the Catholic church fund at the home of Mrs. Leonard Cline Monday evening. Fifty-five tables were played. Prizes in five hundred were awarded to Mrs. Robert O'Brien, holding high score, and Mrs. Henry McDaniels, second. Miss Cecelia Knappstein was awarded honors in bridge.

Members of the choir of the Emmanuel Lutheran church assembled in a surprise party at the home of Charles Reuter on W. Cook-st. Monday evening in honor of his sixty-eighth birthday anniversary. Mr. Reuter still is active in the church choir and is the oldest member of that organization. A delightful musical program was given by members of the choir consisting of numbers by the quartet, mixed quartet and solo numbers. Following the program the game of hearts was played. Miss Grace Arndt and H. A. Ploetz receiving high prizes and H. W. Schelds, consolation.

MANAWA RESIDENT DIES FOLLOWING SHORT ILLNESS

Fredrick Jahman, III Only Few Days, Succumbs at His Home

Special to Post-Crescent.
Weyauwega—Fredrick Jahman, 68, died at his home at Manawa after an illness of only a few days. He was born in the Province of Posen, Germany, Jan. 22, 1858, and lived there during young manhood, following his trade of mason. He was married to Miss Ottile Heller Dec. 19, 1882. One son, George, was born to them before they came to America in 1884.

The family located at Little Wolf, where Mr. Jahman worked at his trade. They lived on a farm for about 25 years, then moved to Manawa, where he has since resided.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Hilda Stevens of Appleton; Mrs. Ella Paatz and Mrs. Anna Seubert, both of Minneapolis, Minn.; and two sons, Fredrick and George, both of Little Wolf; also two brothers, William of Union and Charles of St. Lawrence, and one sister, Mrs. Delia Olson of Wittenberg. Funeral services were held from the home and from St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran church, in charge of Rev. R. A. Karpinsky. Burial took place in Manawa cemetery.

Father John McGlinchey, pastor of Sacred Heart church of Manawa, was among those who were admitted to the bar at Madison last week by Chief Justice Vinson of the Supreme court. Father McGlinchey was one of the fifty-eight successful applicants of the one hundred and thirty-six who took the state bar examinations at Madison in January. For the past two years he has been studying law in the spare time from his church duties. He will be awarded the degree of L. L. B. from the American Extension University of Los Angeles, Calif.

TO LAY CONCRETE HIGHWAYS 18 AND 95

Specifications Made Last Year by Highway Commission to Be Maintained

Fremont—Fremont will be benefited with about eight miles of concrete road on highways 18 and 95 this summer. There is no vibratory paving to be done in Wisconsin this year, according to statements from the new highway commission in the first hearing of the legislative investigating committee. The specifications of the contracts made last year by the highway commission will be maintained, and therefore the old pledge counties will be forthcoming. Only new contracts will require a special kind of concrete, it was reported.

The road and bridge committee of the Waupaca-co highway department, consisting of Richard Toepke, chairman, Bernard Jorgensen, secretary, and S. M. Meyers, county highway commissioner, John C. Huffcut and Chairman Charles Peters, Sr. of the town of Fremont met at the town hall with landowners on highways 18 and 95 for the purpose of buying land and making adjustments for cutting shade and fruit trees and moving buildings, required by the width of the new paved road, which will be twenty feet of concrete and eighty feet between fences here. At the intersection of R. 18 the pavement will be forty feet wide for a distance of three hundred feet, where arterials will be placed. A filling station will also be located at this important intersection.

Little Miss Genevieve Herriek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Herriek, had the index and middle fingers of her right hand broken by an iron bar that fell on her hand in her father's blacksmith shop, Friday forenoon. She was taken to Weyauwega where Dr. Russell attended her. The fingers will not be crippled, the doctor states.

Riverside Camp No. 395, Royal Neighbors, held a special meeting at the village hall. Pastoral business was conducted. Those who were present were Mrs. Verduin, Addie and Marie Morin, Gertrude Dobbins, Hilda Abraham and Christine Redemann. There were services in German and English at 10:45 o'clock, after Sunday school, at the Wolf Reformed Hope church, Sunday forenoon. The Rev. Mr. Snitker of the Plymouth Mission house conducted the services.

M'LEAN BOOM FOR PRESIDENT SEEN AS SMITH'S PLOT

New York Governor's Friends Work Southern States to Defeat McAdoo

BY ROONEY DUTCHER
Washington—Governor Angus Wilson McLean of North Carolina is potential presidential timber.

He probably can have the endorsement of his state for the Democratic nomination in 1928 if he wants it.

But McLean is a supporter of W. G. McAdoo.

That is why McLean, who thinks McAdoo has a better chance for nomination than any governor below the Mason-Dixon line no matter what his capabilities, is unlikely to come to the next convention as North Carolina's favorite son.

The same thing holds true for Senator Furnifold M. Simmons, leader of the state Democratic organization, who has had North Carolina's endorsement and whose friends would be glad to give it to him again.

The purpose of this story is not to cast aspersions at the presidential boom said to have been started for the able McLean.

It concerns a deep, dark and diabolical plot which certain good Democrats find evolving from the bitter warfare of submerine at tactics and poison gas which is raging between our old friends McAdoo and Al Smith.

It already is evident that the Smith legions, with the enthusiastic support of all political wets, are doing everything in their power to foster a widespread belief that McAdoo, as a candidate for nomination, is a dead duck. Many people, either through hope, greed or otherwise, are ready to believe this. But it is much too early in the game for any man possessed of reasonable caution to assert anything of the sort.

It is only slightly less evident that Smith's friends have been waging a vigorous campaign of education to sell Smith to the south and the west. Time will have to demonstrate the effect of this effort.

But what the McAdoo Democrats feel is likely to be most pernicious, Smith's efforts in an attempt to prevent McAdoo from reaching the next convention with an imposing column of delegates instructed to vote for him and stick with him to the last. If Smith should ride in from the north with twice as many instructed delegates as McAdoo, for instance, the psychological effect can readily be seen. And it is quite possible that he will.

The Smith Democrats are now reported to be working all over the south and in the middle-west, not so much to obtain Smith delegations as to obtain delegates for distinguished favorite sons—like McLean. It would be hard to show that Smith had made any marked gains since 1924 in territory that was then McAdoo's. And rather than risk an out and out pre-convention Smith-McAdoo fight in McAdoo territory, it is much better strategy to push McAdoo out of the picture and "compromise" on favorite sons.

A delegate instructed to vote for McLean, Pat Harrison, Joe Robinson, Carter Glass or any other state hero need not declare himself as between McAdoo and Smith. He need only shout that he's for McLean, Harrison, Robinson or whoever it may be. And because of this it would be possible for Smith to pack a few delegates in the delegations when the favorite sons dropped out, would flop to him rather than to McAdoo.

So McLean, who was appointed assistant secretary of the treasury and director of the War Finance Corporation under McAdoo, might be merely playing the Smith game should he accept the doubtful tribute with North Carolina graceless would give him.

And there are many other states which have their McLeans. There is talk of McLean as a vice presidential candidate on the theory that the south must at least be accorded a place on the ticket, in which case competition would probably be severe.

McLean, a planter, banker, lawyer, manufacturer and railroad builder, is much better known here than most governors. He is 56 years old, with a great record of service to the party, nationally and statewide. He was managing director of the War Finance Corporation in 1920-21 and at the same time an assistant secretary of the treasury. He held other important federal jobs under Wilson. He was elected governor in 1924 and is credited with reorganizing the state financial system, installing the first budget system, systematizing the state government and instituting other measures to establish North Carolina's supremacy in industry and agriculture.

He is a tall, magnificently built Scotchman, described as clean, able and loyal and with a genius for plain, meaty, convincing yet unadorned oratory.

EXPECT ACTIVE REAL ESTATE BUSINESS HERE

Real estate business will be active here this season. Real estate brokers prophesy. There has been an unusually large number of inquiries for farms, dealers say, and inquiries for homes also has increased over last year. Another factor which points toward a big real estate season is the fact that the Appleton Building and Loan association has been overwhelmed with requests for money to build or buy homes, according to G. H. Beckley, secretary.

Although inquiries for farms have been large, people making them are not offering high prices. During the past year there has been hardly no activity in farm sales but present inquiries seem to indicate that there will be more business this year. It is probable that farm prices will increase owing to the sudden demand.

Real estate activity in Appleton during the past few months was good, brokers say.

Few Hunters Kill Does, Outdoor Expert Believes

BY B. A. CLAFFIN

Just now the air is full of rumors of what it is going to be done at this session of the legislature in conservation matters. A belem of big talk prevails and a flock of bills as usual are being offered on every conceivable matter from protecting the carps, to shooting does. Everyone has his own idea, no two being alike, and so far as the individual bills are concerned, none being of any great value.

In the case of the hunters, about the only thing they agree upon is a demand for permission to kill does. In every newspaper nowadays there appear articles stating that last season more does and fawns were killed than bucks, one going so far as to claim that 70 per cent of the deer killed last season were does. How can he know that? Where do these wise guys get their knowledge? And why should more does be killed last season than any other year? Such a statement is positively absurd, and you may put it down for a fact that any hunter who wants to kill does is actuated by selfish motives, and not by any desire to see these animals saved. How can any individual hunter who confines his activities to a little section of the woods know that the does and fawns were slaughtered all over the north country by the hundreds? Put it down as talk, nothing else.

I spent the whole month of November, 1924, traveling from one camp to another all over Vilas, and Oneida, and acquired a fairly good knowledge of what was going on. After the deer season closed that year there appeared in a newspaper an article stating that hundreds of does were lying about in the woods adjacent to Chippewa Falls. And yet I met a large party of hunters in Vilas who had been hunting in Chippewa Falls. I asked them why they came to Vilas to hunt and was told that the hunting around their section of the country was all played out. They stated they could travel for days at a time and not encounter any deer or signs of their presence.

The day I left Woodruff for Madison, at the close of the season, I overheard four disgruntled Milwaukee hunters squawking about the buck law. One of the party with more wind than skill as a hunter, claimed he knew where there were 12 dead does hanging. I offered to pay his fare to Milwaukee and give him $50 besides, if he would show me where they were. He refused. He could not spare the time, nor would he even tell me where they were. Why not? Simply because he did not know anything of the kind to be true. His party had failed to get their bucks and they were sore at everything.

We had the very best of assistance and information, yet during the whole month I was unable to find one dead doe. The whereabouts of only three dead does that had, no doubt, been killed by mistake and deserted. Of course that number was not all that were killed, but we learned of only three in traveling the whole country, how was an individual hunter to know that hundreds were being killed?

Old time natives of that section were positive in their statements that the killing of does was grossly exaggerated, and if men of their caliber do not know the true situation, how are the city sports who go up for a few days to hunt, and confine their hunting, such as it is, to a radius of not over a square mile, to know it?

Of the close of that season I am visiting Warden Mackenzie of Antigo, to whom all the illegal game that was recovered in several counties by a small army of experienced wardens was sent, had only 20 does.

We would say, however, that an open season of about five days in November, or October, would be preferable to the present one.

tract with a motion picture producer, became insured for $500,000.

Feature Productions, Inc., had paid only two premiums totaling less than $7,000 on a $2,000,000 policy which it carried on the life of Rudolph Valentino, motion picture star, when the insured was murdered by his death last August. He also carried considerable personal insurance payable to his estate.

The largest amount of life insurance in 1925 was paid in Greater New York, N. Y., $46,476,000. Payments in Chicago, Ill., totaled $22,450,000, and in Philadelphia, Pa., $16,055,000. These were the only cities above $10,000,000.

Seventeen motion picture stars and producers are insured for $1,000,000 or more. William Fox heads the list with $5,000,000 insurance. Others are insured as follows: Jesse L. Lasky, $5,000,000; Marcus Loew, $5,000,000; Adolph Zukor, $5,000,000; Joseph M. Schenck, $1,250,000; John Barrymore, $2,000,000; Gloria Swanson, $2,000,000; Norma Talmadge, $1,000,000; Constance Talmadge, $1,000,000; Buster Keaton, $1,000,000; Charles Chaplin, $1,000,000; Mary Pickford, $1,000,000; Douglas Fairbanks, $1,000,000; Eric von Stroheim, $1,000,000; June Mathis, $1,000,000; Richard Dix, $1,000,000; Cecil B. De Mille, $1,000,000.

Heavy insurance on a short-term basis also is taken out on "movie" stars when a big film is started to protect the investments of the producing companies, for the death or disability of an important member of the cast during the making of the picture would mean a serious financial loss. Douglas Fairbanks is said to have been covered to the extent of $2,000,000 during the filming of "The Thief of Baghdad." Red Grange, ex-football star, when he signed his recent contract, had his life insured for $1,000,000.

Two other policy holders besides Mr. Rosenbloom who carried more than $1,000,000 in insurance died in 1925. They were Horace A. Saks, vice president of Saks and Co., New York, whose policies totaled $1,201,000, and Julius Rosenberg, a wealthy manufacturer, who was insured for $1,040,249. At one time he carried $2,000,000 in insurance.

The largest insurance paid in 1925 in the United States and Canada on an individual was $1,767,000, which was carried by Solomon Rosenbloom, Pittsburg, banker and Jewish communal leader. He died suddenly while on a visit in New York at the age of 56.

ENGLISH SINGERS ARE ACCLAIMED AS MUSICAL NOVELTY

Artists Will Appear at Lawrence Memorial Chapel Thursday Evening

The English Singers of London are the outstanding musical novelty of the season. Those who have heard them and managers believe they will come to the Lawrence Memorial chapel Thursday evening as the third number of the Community Artists series.

These six people bring a repertoire to the concert hall. They have rediscovered the wonders of Elizabethan music, and their concert of madrigals, folk songs, ballets, and canzonets are revelations of beauty, critics have said.

Their entire program will be sung in English. The perfect diction of the British horn is theirs. They have revealed the possibilities and the wonders of the English tongue. Some one has said, "They have proven English singable."

Three men and three women appear seated about a table. They sing with ease and joy and their audience reflects their feelings, such has been the experience of their listeners in other cities.

Practically all of their program is sung in capella and the combination of these six voices produces a perfect ensemble. It is a program for both the discriminating musician and the lay listener.

The English singers demonstrate the last word in part singing, it has been said. They sing a program every word of which is understood, full of humor, grace, charm, which brings pleasure to all.

Sets for the concert are on sale at Belling's Drug store.

NEED GOOD EXCUSE TO MISS CLASS AT COLLEGE

Temperamental attendance at classes will not be accepted at Lawrence college in the second semester. Dean Wilson S. Naylor has announced. Only those excuses granted by him will be accepted by teachers and these will be given only when an application in writing is presented by the student with the certificate of a nurse, physician or other authorized person within 48 hours after the return of the student.
